INSANITARY CONDITIONS ARE FOUND IN DAIRIES VISITED BY ALDERMEN

SHIPYARD WORKERS IN CONFERENCE TODAY

Union Heads Consider Possibility of Owners' Abrogation of Wage Contracts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—How shipyard workers may aid in relieving the existing stagnation in the shipbuilding industry was a question to which heads of labor unions with members in the shipbuilding trades, in conference here, had found no answer today. The question was considered from various angles yesterday, and no decision having been reached, another meeting was called for today.

The union heads also were understood to have under consideration the possibility that shipyard owners, faced with a continuation of the present depression, might decide on abrogation of the present wage contracts with their employees.

The union officials, in view of the conference with representatives of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co., set for next Monday, also gave attention today to the address made yesterday by J. W. Powell, vice president of that corporation, before the National Merchant Marine Association. Powell declared that the vital problem confronting American shipbuilders was that of competing with foreign shipyards and in that connection declared that shipbuilding wages in the United States were higher than in England, three times as high as in France, and many times as high as in Germany.

Shipyard Workers' Pay, With 22.5 Per Cent Off, 2.5 Times Rate in 1913. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A Department of Labor table published today said that if the maximum wage cut of 22 1/2 per cent so far reported from any cotton mill were applied generally in the industry to 1913 wages, as compared with 1915, it would leave an hour wage 2.5 times as high as prevailed in 1913, or 1.4 times as high as in 1915.

K. & T. Plans to Curtail Operations in Shops. Curtailment of operations in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad shops in Sedalia, Mo., Parsons, Kan., and Denison, Tex., is planned by the officials in the St. Louis offices of the road. It was announced that working hours would be lessened, in preference to cutting the working force. The five-day week is being considered.

About 3500 men are employed in the three plants. The work to be cut off, is of the kind known as heavy work, current repairs being continued.

Employees of Shipyards Vote to Accept Wage Reduction. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The Metal Trades Council, representing 2500 men employed at G. M. Hammer Construction Co.'s shipyard here, last night voted to accept a reduction in pay of from 4 to 8 cents an hour rather than have the company reduce the number of its employees.

Chicago Unions Explain Refusal to Accept Reduction. By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—A statement made public today by the Chicago Building Trades Council tells why the 32 unions affiliated with the council voted not to accept any reduction in their present wage scales within the next three years, and it is the desire to insist on continuation of the present $12.50 an hour wage for union building workers, at a meeting of their business agents yesterday.

Nearly 200 more were added to the list of unemployed today when a reduction in forces of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. went into effect. Twenty-five per cent of the freight crews of the Pennsylvania lines over the Toledo & Mansfield division were laid off under the order, and clerks in the Toledo freight office put on a five-days-a-week schedule.

$80,000 INSURANCE FOR MAN BLINDED WHEN SHOT BY WOMAN

Settlement in Case of Julius Jonas, Wounded in Former St. Louis Woman's Flat.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Julius Jonas, who was blinded when Pauline Meglitsche, who formerly lived in St. Louis, shot him and then shot and killed herself in her flat last fall, will receive nearly $80,000 insurance, it was reported today. A settlement of the insurance company's suit to rescind nine policies carrying that amount was entered into between lawyers representing Jonas and the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co. of California.

The insurance company contested the claims of Mrs. Jonas, principal beneficiary, on the theory that Jonas had incurred a moral hazard, prohibited in the policies, when he visited the home of Miss Meglitsche. The tragedy in which Jonas was blinded came when on a visit to the home of the girl, Jonas told her he was going back to live with Mrs. Jonas.

HARDING, ON WAY SOUTH, TO PUT ALL WORK OUT OF MIND

President-Elect, Due at St. Augustine Sunday, Will Fish for Two Weeks—May Play Golf Later.

By the Associated Press. ON BOARD PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING'S TRAIN, Jan. 21.—With his troubles packed in a kit bag that he intends to keep tightly locked for at least two weeks, President-elect Harding turned his thoughts to golf sticks and fishing rods today as he journeyed southward for a vacation in Florida.

HE SHOWS STRAIN OF MANY CONFERENCES

Mrs. Harding to Make Shopping Visit to New York and Washington Before Going to Florida.

By the Associated Press. ON BOARD PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING'S TRAIN, Jan. 21.—With his troubles packed in a kit bag that he intends to keep tightly locked for at least two weeks, President-elect Harding turned his thoughts to golf sticks and fishing rods today as he journeyed southward for a vacation in Florida.

The association of nations, tax reform, the choice of a Cabinet and all the other topics that have been keeping long hours with him during the last six weeks in Marion, are to be put as far away from his mind as possible, until he has had a good rest. His Marion conferences frequently have kept him busy from early morning until late at night, and the strain and lack of exercise have told materially on his physical condition.

Two Weeks' Fishing Planned.

Not once since his return from Panama early in December has he been able to visit his favorite playground, the golf links. Walking has been his only recreation, and he has found little time even for that.

The fishing trip down the eastern shore of Florida is to occupy the first two weeks of his stay in the South. It is his hope to be completely isolated from observation during the period, though he may venture forth once or twice to play golf. Early in the morning he will set up his residence at a St. Augustine hotel, where he will remain until just before his inauguration.

Mrs. Harding to Go South Later. Harding's private car, which left Marion at midnight, went southward today, attached to regular passenger trains, and will pass through Chattanooga and Atlanta during the evening. He will arrive at St. Augustine Sunday.

Two who have been his companions on all the trips since his nomination to the White House, are now on board the private car today. Mrs. Harding remained behind to dispose of personal affairs in Marion, but will go to Florida after a shopping trip to Washington.

Harding's Departure From Marion Preceded by Day of Farewells. By the Associated Press. MARION, O., Jan. 21.—President-elect Harding's departure from Marion last night meant severing most of the ties that have bound him to his home community, and he put in yesterday bidding farewell to his neighbors. He made several personal calls, received many friends at his office, made a short farewell talk to the pupils of the city high school and was the honored guest at a meeting of the Elks' fraternity, of which he is a member. He will return here before he goes to Washington, but only for a stay of a few hours.

Mr. Harding's farewell talk was delivered at the Harding High School, recently renamed in his honor, and he was introduced to the pupils by his sister, Miss Abigail Harding, who is a teacher there. He expressed regret that he could not stay among his old friends to perform the duties of his office, and asked for the moral support of the people of his home community during the next four years.

Believes in Soul of America. "For 30 years I have been listening to public sentiment," he said, "and every public servant who listens to the call on the soul of America is sure to get along. I firmly believe in the destiny of America and I am going to attack my tasks with full confidence."

At the Elks a special group of candidates, to be known in fraternity records as the "Harding class," was initiated with a ceremony in which the President-elect played a leading role.

Headquarters to Remain Open.

The party accompanying Harding South is the smallest with which he has traveled since his nomination for the presidency. It consists only of the President-elect, his secretary, George B. Christian Jr., Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, two stenographers and a dozen secret service men.

CONDUCT HERE OF DRY SQUAD TO BE INVESTIGATED

Managers, Clerks and House Detectives of Hotels to Be Summoned to Tell of Officers' Activities.

By the Associated Press. An investigation of the conduct of a special squad of prohibition enforcement agents, who were sent to St. Louis about six weeks ago to investigate conditions here, and the conduct of members of the local prohibition enforcement squad, was begun yesterday by A. A. Young, inspector in charge of the local office of the United States Department of the Interior Revenue Division.

SPECIAL AGENTS CAME SIX WEEKS AGO

Warrants Issued by District Attorney Carroll on Evidence Furnished by the Squad.

The members of the special squad are Mrs. Mary M. Blaney, also known as Dorothy Gordon and Pearl Brown; Mrs. Edith A. Catlin, J. D. Steele, W. E. Smith, J. R. Greenow, W. E. Dunigan and George M. Williams, prohibition enforcement agent in charge of the local office, a position he has occupied since Dec. 1, when the special squad's investigation began.

Young, besides inquiring into the personal conduct of the members of the special squad of investigators during their sojourn here, is investigating their methods of operation in the work done by them. It is expected he will summon the managers, clerks and house detectives of several of the larger hotels, to make statements about the investigators' activities in the hotels.

Statements by Service Car Drivers. Yesterday the inspector took the statements of S. A. Rohlfing and C. A. Gullick, service car drivers, who were employed on several occasions by the special squad to take them "riding." Both men said that while they were in the most friendly manner and made them members of the party, giving them drinks and inviting them to their rooms in their hotels and later pre-arranging upon them to take them to places where liquor could be obtained.

Gullick said he frequently was invited into the room of one of the agents, and that he was served Scotch whisky and wine while there. Others of the special squad of agents were in the room at various times, he said, and partook of the wine and whisky.

Rohlfing declared he was employed by the party for several days at a time and had been "treated so white" that he had not charged the party for the use of his automobile several of the days he was with them.

Rohlfing was arrested by Smith and Dunigan, the agents say, after he had arranged at their request to give up their room for 12 gallons of bottled-in-bond liquor from N. A. Barry, 3541 California avenue, for $900. The arrest of Rohlfing occurred in the Barry home last Tuesday. Barry also was arrested for the conference to decide.

The former peace commissioner said that the expression "open covenants, openly arrived at" was a beautiful theory, but it was impracticable. Some negotiations between nations must be secret. He added that he had always been inclined to the theory that "what knows no law," and for that reason had never been able to place his faith in the Hague conferences.

Gen. Pershing's views on disarmament will be sought by the committee next Tuesday.

To Call Up Resolution.

Senator Borah will call up in the Senate next week his resolution proposing negotiations between the United States and Great Britain and Japan to reduce naval programs. This resolution was reported favorably by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday.

Action on it at the present session of Congress is conceded to be in doubt. Advocates of the resolution, however, hope the Senate debate will give impetus to general disarmament sentiment here and abroad. Proponents said they were hopeful, in event of adoption of the resolution at the present session, of obtaining President Wilson's signature, but declared there was little prospect of actual initiation of the proposed negotiations until President-elect Harding takes office.

Warrants Issued.

The warrants issued by District Attorney Carroll on evidence obtained by the special squad, as announced today, were against the following: G. B. Vennari, 2500 Olive street, grocer, charged with selling one pint of "wine of pepsin" for $2.50 to Mrs. Catlin, with a chauffeur. Joseph Kappel, Jefferson and Washington, selling one-half pint of

U. S. SHOULD LEAD MOVE TO DISARM, SAYS HENRY WHITE

Member of American Peace Commission to Paris Tells House Committee All Peoples Want Agreement.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Staggering burdens of taxation resulting from the World War have caused the peoples of all nations to favor a world agreement on disarmament, Henry White, former Ambassador to France and a member of the American Peace Commission to Paris, declared today before the House Naval Committee which is holding hearings on this subject. "I think the world is crying for some agreement," said White, "but I do not favor the United States being the only nation to disarm."

FAVORS CONFERENCE CALL AFTER MARCH 4

Should Be Limited for Present to Britain, Japan and U. S., His View.

The United States, he added, should take the initiative in the disarmament movement and the conference should be held in this country. Any gathering looking to general disarmament should include France and Italy as well as the United States, Great Britain and Japan, the former Ambassador said, but discussions looking to a reduction of naval building only should be limited. "The present at least, to Great Britain, Japan and the United States," said White, "I think it would result in chaos if all nations of the world were to be represented at the proposed conference."

"Would not general disarmament open the way to Bolshevism through-out Europe?" asked Representative Britten, Republican, of Illinois. "I think France might feel that way," said the witness. "The keeping of Germany in a state of chaos over reparations is a danger to Bolshevism more than any other factor right now, in my opinion. The present condition of Germany makes Bolshevism a menace."

White said it would not be advisable to issue the call for the proposed conference until after March 4 because a call by President Wilson "might not be treated seriously, as he is a retiring President."

"The general impression I got abroad was that all nations desire to reduce their military establishments," White continued, adding that he saw no objection to "a naval holiday" while disarmament was being discussed.

"I should like to see the United States equal to any nation in sea power when the reduction started," White said, "but questions might be raised at the conference that would show the right of some nations to a larger navy than the others. Great Britain, for instance, I should think the question of relative size would be one for the conference to decide."

The former peace commissioner said that the expression "open covenants, openly arrived at" was a beautiful theory, but it was impracticable. Some negotiations between nations must be secret. He added that he had always been inclined to the theory that "what knows no law," and for that reason had never been able to place his faith in the Hague conferences.

Gen. Pershing's views on disarmament will be sought by the committee next Tuesday.

$85,000 IN GARAGES PARTLY OWNED BY HIM

Partner Said to Have Telephoned of Stumbling on Box—Minister Reported to Have Denied All Knowledge.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Jan. 21.—Virtually all of the $185,000 obtained in the theft of 31 packages of registered mail here last Friday, was recovered today by postoffice inspectors in raids in various sections of Mount Vernon.

One of four persons arrested on suspicion of complicity in the robbery is the Rev. Guy Kyle, former pastor of the Free Methodist Church here. More arrests are expected to be made, it was said.

Approximately $100,000 was found in an egg crate in the attic at the home of the Rev. Mr. Kyle, the majority of which was in $20 and $50 bills. About $75,000 in packages, only a few of which had been broken, was confiscated in one garage and about $10,000 in another. Both garages are owned by Loren Williamson and the Rev. Mr. Kyle.

Arrest Follows Phone Tip. Williamson telephoned the postal and county authorities early today that he could give them important information. He and his brother-in-law, Edward P. Johnson, told them Williamson had found a sack in the rear of the garage operated by Kyle, which contained $75,000. Williamson and Johnson were not held.

Elmer Allen told the authorities Kyle paid him $2 for delivering two boxes yesterday.

Kyle is said to have told the inspectors he did not know how the money was placed in his house or his garage and declared he had nothing to do with it.

Garage Near Postoffice. The garage in which the $75,000 was found is about 100 yards to the rear of the postoffice, where the robbery is believed to have been committed.

The packages of registered mail were in four sacks, which were placed on a wagon of Sam Moreland for delivery to a railroad station. After the sacks were placed on the wagon, Moreland entered the postoffice to telephone, and it is believed the robbery occurred at that time. About $75,000 in negotiable securities also was obtained.

The money was sent here from Chicago and it is thought the use in making up payrolls at coal mines near here.

Kyle is said recently to have left the Free Methodist denomination and to be affiliated now with the Nazarene sect.

Federal Reserve Bank Says Money Shipped From Here Was Insured.

At the time of the mail pouch robbery at Mount Vernon it was stated there that one of the inner pouches contained $80,000 payroll money for coal miners at Benton, Ill., and that this money had been shipped from Chicago through the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

Federal Reserve Bank officials here today declined to discuss the amount shipped from the local Federal Reserve Bank through Mount Vernon on the day of the robbery, further than to say that some of the bank's clients in that territory have reported since the robbery that they did not receive certain shipments of money. It was said at the bank that the loss was secured by theft insurance, and that since the matter has been placed with the insurance company, it would not be good policy to state how much money was stolen in the shipment from the local bank.

Fur Prices Generally Lower. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The humble house cat lost caste at the fur auction here yesterday, when bids for its pelt were 55 per cent lower than the prices offered last April. General declines, ranging from 45 to 75 per cent, were registered in market trading. Others affected by the slump were stone marten, baum marten and Japanese mink, 55 per cent, and hair seals and Japanese marten, 60 per cent.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB
SPLIT AFTER VISIT
OF LECTURER

One Faction Consists of Follows of "Dr." Miller,
Other of Supporters of Miss Anna Maud Hallam.

WOMAN GAVE SERIES OF TALKS LAST YEAR

She Suggested Organization
—Miller Obtained Hall She Used Year Ago, and She Advanced Dates.

One result of the recent visit here
of "Dr." Orlando Edgar Miller, lecturer on "applied psychology," was to split the St. Louis Club of Applied Psychology into two factions. The one faction consists of the followers of the genuine article, and that Miss Anna Maud Hallam is its prophet, and the other of which holds that Miller is as good as Miss Hallam, if not better.

Judging from the heartiness of the arguments expressed today by leaders of the opposing factions, it will require all the psychological powers of the members here acquired to hold the breach and prevent the formation of two distinct clubs, one of Hallamites and one of Millerites.
The situation has disclosed that there is considerable competition in "applied psychology."

Miss Hallam lectured here last March on "applied psychology." Her method was similar to that of Miller,
recently described in the Post-Dispatch. She gave a series of "free" lectures, at which collections were taken up, and then promoted a tuition class. Miller's class lasted a week, and the fee was $10. Miss Hallam's course included nine lectures, and the figure was $25. Both did a thriving business.

On the suggestion of Miss Hallam,
when she lectured here last year, she suggested the founding of a club, and as accordingly was formed, the members subscribing to the principle taught by Miss Hallam. The club was organized, and the first meeting was held on Jan. 13, when Miller's advice agent arrived in town and began posting announcements of Miller's appearance, beginning Dec. 26.
Immediately the date of Miss Hal-lam's appearance was moved up to Jan. 2. Last year Miss Hallam got the auditorium of Sheldon Memorial for her lectures, but Miller got it this time to Miss Hallam engaged Moot Temple.

The reasons which prompted some of Miss Hallam's former adherents to enter Miller's class are variously stated. A. W. Meyer of 5763 B McDonnell avenue, president of the club, said that complimentary tickets were given to certain officers and members of the club to enlist them in Miller's side.

Miss Hallam Refuses to Talk.
Miss Hallam's engagement will not be concluded until tomorrow night.
When asked today what success she had had in a financial way, she said she did not care to discuss that or any other feature of her activities.
Miller teaches the value of non-resistance and "the Silence." Johnson, who holds with Miller, had the following to say today: "There are a few assumed dictators who are trying to run the club. They won't get away with it. These people are not real thinkers. They think that error can prevail against truth. They will find, when it comes to a showdown, that the majority of the members are against them. I respect Miss Hallam's teachings as much as anybody, but Dr. Miller is a very advanced man—very advanced. He has a great message. He is teaching the same thing that Miss Hallam is teaching, only perhaps more advanced."

Miss Hallam advocates brotherly love and the saving power of forgiveness. President Meyer, who adheres to her doctrine, delivered himself on the situation as follows: "What I would like to know is, who have the right of our members to Miller. He has not them, and so far as I am concerned, he is not a member. I know, Treasurer Johnson is the only man who had them. I understand that every member of the club has an invitation from Miller to attend his lectures. I understand that certain ones got free tickets to his advanced class."

"To Tell to Run Club."
Then he told them, I am interested, that the thing for them to do was to take possession of the club, devote it to studying his beliefs,
and the exclusion of Miss Hallam's
and to turn out the ones of us who don't agree with him.

"I don't want to put that scheme over on you. I understand, I am to pack

Man Who Lost Vocal Cords
in Argonne Regains Speech

Ventricular Bands Made to Function Like True Vocal Cords—Voice Normal Except for Hoarseness.

Rudolph M. Bowman of 724 North Euclid avenue, a former soldier, who was wounded in the Argonne battle
in such a manner that his vocal cords were destroyed, has regained his ability to speak. His case is the only instance in the knowledge of the specialists of the Central Institute for the Deaf, where he has been treated at Government expense, in which speech has been lost after the complete loss of the vocal cords.

Bowman, on Wednesday, at the Euclid, 318 South King's highway, transmitted to a photograph record
an account of his experience. Information of the event was given to the Post-Dispatch by the young man's employer and a reporter was admitted to the demonstration.

Bowman's voice sounds normal except for a slight hoarseness as that of a person suffering from a cold.
For ethical reasons the physician in charge of the case declined to comment on the remarkable case, or publication. But a copy of a paper on this scientific achievement
is that the ventricular bands or false vocal cords have been made to function like the true cords, a free
action has been secured and the ventricular bands induced to vibrate like the true vocal cords. By practicing certain vocal exercises in a systematic way, these muscles that have been ordinarily inactive have come to function automatically, and not only sound, but a good voice of volume, flexibility and range, from ordinary speaking tones and accents to a pitch approximating an octave above middle C on the piano keyboard, has been created.

Bowman Tells His Story.
Bowman offers his story, with the purpose of informing others and encouraging soldiers to take advantage of the training and reconstruction aid offered by the Government. As transmitted by him to a photograph record, it follows:

"This discourse will show to what perfection the science of rehabilitation has been brought. I have been developed," spoke Bowman into the microphone. "You are now listening to a voice formed without the aid of vocal cords, a voice made possible
by training another set of muscles,
the ventricular bands, to a point
nearly equal to the normal voice."

"I was wounded on Nov. 3, 1918,
by a shell fragment fired from a
'sacred' battery of 77's, at 600 yards range. The fragment, the size of the first joint of a man's little finger, entered the chin, went through the lower teeth and gums,
under the tongue at an angle of 45
degrees, and down through the throat, where it was written. He was also a scale, proving good control of
vocal range covering an entire octave or producing any or all notes
at will."

"Caruso could not do that without vocal cords," he remarked
cheerily, at the conclusion.
Bowman is 31 years old, is married and has one child. He is employed by a film company at 7 North ninth (Missouri-Kansas) Division.

the membership with Miller's students, and then control the election of officers. Watch and see what happens if they try it." The annual election of club officers will take place Feb. 1.

Meyer said before Miller arrived,
his advance agent approached Meyer
with a proposal to get the club's support for Miller. Meyer said he told the agent that Miller must first present credentials, and must also explain what he intended doing with the money he collected. The agent replied, he said, that Miller would present credentials, but couldn't have anybody else meddling with his finances.

Miss Hallam Has School Fund.
Asked what Miss Hallam is doing
with the money she collects, Meyer
said part of it goes into a building fund to erect a "university of applied psychology." He said, however, that Miss Hallam is sole cus-odian of the fund, and does not report to anybody on the amount she has collected. Miss Hallam said today that there was such a fund, but when asked how large it was, she terminated the interview.

EMPLOYING PRINTERS TO RESIST
DEMAND FOR A 44-HOUR WEEK

Job and Commercial House Owners to Hold Meeting in St.
Louis Feb. 3.

The Advisory Committee of the St.
Louis branch of the Printers'
League of America has sent out a letter calling a meeting of employing printers, to be held in St. Louis Feb.
3, for the purpose of organizing to resist demands of the International Typographical Union for the 44-hour working week in job and commercial printing houses. About 600 printing houses in the Middle West have been invited to send representatives to the meeting.

To aid the Advisory Committee in its work, 41 printing houses in St.
Louis have agreed to contribute 5
per cent of their mechanical payroll,
aggregating $75,000, to create a fund
for advertising and other expenses
of resisting the demands of the union. About 80 per cent of the printing houses are said to have recently taken out strike insurance amounting to approximately $5-$60,000.

The Advisory Committee is composed of R. T. Deacon, president, Edward J. Schuster, treasurer; Geo.
B. Gannett, secretary; A. von Hoffmann, D. J. Kerwin and Frank W.
Corley.

ter a fly, nor make a noise as loud as a fly buzz. Then I could whisper easily, and later I learned to make the sound of clearing my throat into words. For about a year I growled and croaked through life, though after a while the huskiness went away.

"I had five more operations in the course of a year, and then, on Oct.
30 I was discharged with 50 per cent
disability, having been kept three days less than a year in 11 different hospitals.

"Then I started in with the Federal Board for Vocational Education, and after much effort to get through the red tape, in August, 1920, I was authorized to receive training for the reconstruction of my voice with the Central Institute for the Deaf, of St. Louis. Under the direction of the training and reconstruction
of this institution, this new set of muscles has been trained.

"My jaw has been made straight with metal casts, a perfect set of lower teeth with imitation gums was made for me, a plastic operation on the chin left it smooth, with an unnoticeable scar, and the scar on my neck is covered by my collar. I have actually associated daily for weeks with people who did not know
I had been wounded.

"And I not only can talk, but can sing, and because I want to be nice to you I shall sing 'The Holy City,' which I once learned. I would sound much better with accompaniment."

Whereupon he did sing the song
throughout without a false note, im-passing the entire range of the key which it was written. He sang
also a scale, proving good control of
vocal range covering an entire octave or producing any or all notes
at will.

NEGRO HELD IN ROBBERY
OF BIG FOUR PASSENGERS

Occupants of Lower Berths of Two Trains on Which He Occupied an Upper Missed Purse.

Robberies of sleeping car passengers on Big Four trains between Cincinnati and St. Louis, last Tuesday and Wednesday nights, were explained after the arrest of a negro,
who is now held by the East St.
Louis police, having been turned over to the police by a train crew.

The negro, who dresses well, was an upper berth passenger from Cincinnati Tuesday night, having a ticket to Hillsboro, Ill. During the night, he now admits he reached into two lower berths and took two purses from passengers' clothing.
Their contents amounted to $157. He returned from Hillsboro to Cincinnati and started out again Wednesday night, in an upper. When the passenger complained of a robbery,
the negro passenger was suspected,
in view of the reports of the robbery
the night before, and the train crew took charge of him. Three passengers were robbed Wednesday night, $175 being taken. The prisoner had $488, a diamond stick pin and other jewelry.

He carried cards with a New York
name and business address, which he said were his. The police think it likely that these cards were stolen
by him.

FINED $100 FOR WHISKY SALE

Saloon Proprietor Pleads Guilty to Dry Law Violation.

Adolph Strittmatter, proprietor of a saloon at 1308 Missouri avenue, was fined $100 by Judge Miller in the Court of Criminal Correction today on his plea of guilty of violation of the State prohibition law.
He admitted that on Dec. 29 last
he sold drinks of whisky to two patrons who entered the saloon together. He paid his fine.

Ancient Army Contractor Cut Prices.
ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 21.—British archaeologists have unearthed in the vicinity of Saloniki an ancient marble plaque with a legend praising Manius Salarus Sabinius, who had a contract to furnish rye, beans and wine to a legion of the Imperial Roman army. He did so below the market price, a fact emphasized in the inscription which is reproduced
in the Annual of the British School at Athens.

CONGRESSMAN BOOHER
DIES AT SAVANNAH, MO.

Democrat Who Served Seven Terms Was Not a Candidate for Re-election Last Fall.

By the Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 21.— Charles Booher, Representative in Congress from the Fourth District of Missouri, died at his home in Savannah, Mo., today.

He was 74 years old, and had been in failing health more than a year,
during which he had been absent
most of the time from his seat in Congress. His first election to Congress was as a Democrat at a special election in 1889 to fill out an unexpired term. He was again elected in 1896, and was successively re-elected until 1920, when he was not a candidate.

Congressman Booher is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters.

Booher was a native of Geneseo,
N. Y. In 1875 John P. Altgeld, afterward Governor of Illinois, was Prosecuting Attorney of Andrew County and when he resigned to remove to Chicago, Booher was named to succeed him. He served several of Savannah several terms and had taken part in many of the most noted criminal cases of Northwestern Missouri.

Special Election Not to Be Called in Fourth District.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 21.—Gov.
Hyde said today he would not call a special election to fill the vacancy in the Fourth Missouri Congressional District caused by the death of Congressman Booher. The Governor said that as there remained less than two months of Booher's term,
the expense of a special election
would not be justified.

Charles L. Faust, Republican, of St. Joseph, was elected in November of last year to fill the term of Congressman Booher, but was not a candidate for re-election.

SAYS THERE IS FEAR IN ENGLAND
OF AMERICAN MEAT CONTROL

Sir Horace Plunkett Quoted as Hearing on Conditions in Ireland.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The
meat packing industry got into hearings of the commission of the Ireland of One Hundred Investigating conditions in Ireland today when Miss Louise Bennett, secretary of the Irish Women's International League,
read a statement declaring there was plunkett's co-operative movement
declaring that England had destroyed the Irish Co-operative Meat, Ltd., organized to prevent the control by the American Beef Trust of the industry.

"There is the same fear in England of American meat control that there is in America of English oil
control," the statement asserted.
Miss Bennett declared there was both a threatened conflict and the conflict in industries, in Ireland. She submitted a report of an inquiry
made under Darrell Figgis, Irish author, of Irish industry and industrial resources by industry of the Irish Parliament. The inquiry, she said, was entirely nonpolitical and many witnesses who furnished information
were Unionists. Miss Bennett said Figgis once in the inquiry was about to be hanged by British soldiers, but he was rescued and the inquiry completed "on the run."

SAYS GAMBLING IN COUNTY
WAS FACTOR IN BOY'S DOWNFALL

Colorado Ranchman Makes Plea to Juvenile Court for Cousin Who Cashed Bogus Checks.

In making a plea in the Juvenile Court at Clayton today for his 16-year-old cousin, who had been guilty to cashing bogus checks, R. C.
Hudler, a Colorado ranchman, told Judge McElhinney that the presence of gambling in St. Louis and St. Louis County was partly responsible for the boy's conduct.

The prisoner was Robert L. Shipp, who said that he had no home, and
"lived most any place he could." He said most of his time was spent around pool rooms. He cashed two checks for $15 each at a Kroger store in Maplewood. Hudler, who was visiting in St. Louis, heard about Robert's predicament and went to Clayton to help him.

He stated that the marks upon the costs of the distributors were
likely to vary, though all paid a common price to producers. "If all
sell at the same price," he said,
"then whoever operates the cheapest makes the biggest profit," he
said.

TRAIN HITS AUTO IN ALTON;
ST. LOUISAN SERIOUSLY HURT

W. K. Rouleau in Hospital in Illinois Town—Machine Demolished.

W. K. Rouleau of the American
Contractor Publishing Co., 706 Chestnut street, was seriously injured today at 3:30 a. m., when the automobile in which he was riding
was struck by a Big Four passenger train at an ungarded crossing at Oak and Front streets in Alton. The machine, which was driven by E. J.
Williams of the Swift Roading Co., East St. Louis, was demolished. Williams was not injured.

Rouleau was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at Alton, where his condition was pronounced serious.
Williams said that he heard no signal of the approaching train.

Insanitary Conditions Found in Dairies Visited by Aldermanic Committee

milk to households has not recently declined, it being 16 cents a quart.
He also predicted that the distribu-ters in St. Louis would buy milk cheaper from the Southern Illinois
farmers next month, but that there would be no reduction in the retail price.

Grafemann testified that in 1919 he was paying his retail milk drivers $29 a week and a commission of 1 cent a point on all points over $250
a month. He explained that to each of the following represented a point for wage scoring: One quart
of milk, one quart of buttermilk,
two pints of milk, one pint of cream,
one pound of butter and one quart
of cheese.

Present Pay of Drivers.
He said that the wages now paid
by retail distributors were $32.50 a week, with the same commission on the same point basis. He said further that retail distributors had in the past permitted their retail drivers to sell in quantity to stores and be credited in points according to those sales, but recently had taken all stores from retail drivers and were sending special wagons on that business. This would have the effect of reducing the wages of the retail drivers.

Grafemann explained his retirement from the retail business by submitting figures purporting to show that when the retail price of milk was 15 cents, it was costing 1.15 cents to make delivery. He said, however, that larger retail distribu-ters such as the Pevely Dairy Co.
had a lower cost of distribution than he experienced.

Experience With Bottles.
In submitting his costs, Grafemann
made an amusing recital of the experiences of dairies with milk bottles. He said that he sold about 800 bottles of milk daily, and that he was compelled to restock the entire 800 once a week.

"I don't know where they go; no one knows," he said. "Workmen at lunchtime go to a restaurant and say,
'Give me 5 cents' worth of coffee in a milk bottle.' The restaurant keeper gives him 5 cents' worth of coffee and a bottle. The bottle is in Harry. It costs me 7 cents. I tried charging for milk bottles at our four stores, and bought some chips that cost me 1 1/2 cents to give to customers to exchange for bottles. I've used 2500 chips since 1918. They kept the chips and the bottles, too."

He related also that a bottle exchange is maintained by which the dealers hope they can get back some of their bottles. "My boys bring in someone else's bottle," Grafemann said. "I take it to the exchange and get one-half-cent for it. Then I pay the exchange 2 cents to get my own bottles back."

Questioned as to Prices.
"How is it that every one of the dairies hits the bulls eye at the same time on price?" City Counselor Daus asked Grafemann.

"I don't know anything about that; I'm not in the retail business," Grafemann replied. "When I was used to sell 1 cent a quart cheaper than the others."

After questioning that the
costs of the distributors were
likely to vary, though all paid a
common price to producers. "If all
sell at the same price," he said,
"then whoever operates the cheapest makes the biggest profit," he
said.

"Is there any agreement as to what the price shall be?" Daus asked.

"No, sir," Grafemann replied.
Grafemann said that the distribu-ters now were receiving more milk
under their contract with the farmers than they can sell. "We separate the butter fat from the milk and take about a 50 per cent loss on our surplus," he said.

"Ever try reducing the price to sell it at a lower price wouldn't create a greater demand sufficient to take all the surplus?" Daus asked.

"Oh, no," Grafemann replied. "It wouldn't work."

Also asked Grafemann why it was that when distributors were paying the farmers $2.75 per 100 pounds for milk that the retail price was 16 cents and that now, with the price to farmers $2.78, the retail price still is 16 cents.

Grafemann said he couldn't answer.
"I'm not in the retail business," he added.

City Veterinarian Heard.
Dr. H. J. Faust, one of two city veterinarians, testified that last April he ceased to make tuberculin
tests of cows and began inspecting slaughter houses, upon information that diseased cattle were being slaughtered. He said that the Health Department now was relying on the State to make tuberculin tests. He said that the State inspectors did not look for other diseases
in cows.

"If the State men don't look for other diseases, how is the city to be protected?" Daus asked.

"I don't know," Dr. Faust replied.
"Shouldn't this be looked after?"
Daus asked.

"Can the dairy inspectors detect
this disease?" Daus asked.

"Not as a rule," Dr. Faust replied.
"Is it your opinion that once a week inspection of cows is necessary?" Daus asked.

"It would be advisable," Dr. Faust replied.

Members of Inspection Party.
The following members of the committee made the inspection trip
of the dairies: Chairman A. H.
Niederluecke, and Aldermen Stockhausen, Hirth, Watts and Weil. They were accompanied by Mrs. M. G.
Seelig, chairman, and Mrs. George Dock and Mrs. Fred L. English, members of the Citizens' Milk Committee, together with Assistant Health Commissioner Jordan and Dairy Inspector Michael Casey.

The first dairy visited was the Compton Farm Dairy at 2303 Adams street, which, for 40 years, has stood beneath the north end of the Compton avenue viaduct on the edge of the Mill Creek Valley. The yard still bore the marks of rake teeth,
an effort had been made to clean the barn, the brick walks still were wet from scrubbing, freshly pressed curtains were in the windows of the house, and everywhere was evidence of recent cleaning. During the stay of the party, the soil of the yard admitted by an inadvertence that they had been advised in advance of the inspection, but he did not say by whom.

The barn was unclean still, and the 28-cow herd marks upon the flanks and tails of a vigorous effort to remove filth. The barn was very old, dirt hung from its rafters, and general conditions were bad. Inspectors Casey found fault with the manner in which bottles were being washed.

The Diamond Dairy at 3200 Vista avenue is a plant for the pasteuriza-tion of milk shipped from Illinois.
Its daily output is 1000 gallons to 300 customers. The recording device on the pasteurizer was in working order, the owner declared, but the chart which is provided for automatic registration of every pasteurization process was not being used.
Asked why, the owner replied: "The city does not ask us for that." Dr.
Jordan told him that the ordinance
required use of the chart.

There was a pipe provided for the transfer of milk from the pasteurizer to the cooler. Mrs. Seelig looked all about for a dipper which was used instead, when she recently visited the plant. It could not be found. A sack of cottage cheese was resting on a rack exposed to the air.
Before the bottling establishment of Raskin at 311 North Newstead avenue stood a wagon on which was the line: "The Standard Milk, Rich
and Healthful." Inside the proprietor

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN HUGHES HASN'T TENDERED RESIGNATION

Vice Chairman Admits It Has Not Been Offered—Hughes Has Said He Would Quit.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 21.—It became known yesterday that Chairman J. G. Hughes of the Republican State Committee, who announced his resignation soon after he was appointed State Bank Commissioner by Gov. Hyde two weeks ago, has not resigned. In the belief that he had resigned several Republican Senators have had under way for several days a movement to insist upon having called a meeting of the committee to choose his successor, their idea being that Senator Anderson of St. Louis would be the proper man for chairman.

Hughes, after his appointment, at first announced that he would not resign as chairman, but 24 hours later said he would resign. Hughes said the chairmanship would be turned over to Roy H. Monier of Carrollton, vice chairman.

Monier, asked yesterday whether he would call a meeting of the committee to elect a chairman, replied that he would not, that when the chairman resigned the vice chairman assumed the duties of chairman.

Asked last night whether Hughes actually had resigned Monier admitted he had not, and said he had no information as to when Hughes intended to tender his resignation. Hughes was not in his office yesterday or today.

The Hyde administration is said to be opposed to having any change in the State leadership in the party at this time.

Finds $21,500 in Bonds.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Bonds valued at $21,500 loosely wrapped in a newspaper were found yesterday by D. F. Crimmins, who accidentally stumbled over the package as he entered a teaming company office. Crimmins notified Federal officials who began a check to ascertain if the bonds were part of the loot obtained by five bandits who stole 13 sacks of mail from a truck in the Union Station Tuesday morning.

DEGREE OF ARTS DEGREE SINGURE, SAYS PROFESSOR

Employers Are Justified in Having Little Respect for the "High Mark."

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 21.—A man with a bachelor of arts degree
from a college has little better chance of getting a job than a man without a degree, Dr. Frank J. Goodman, president of Johns Hopkins University, declared yesterday, adding there was no reason why he should have a better chance.

He said further that practical business leaders and industry were justified in having little respect for the "high mark" in college studies and for the A. B. degree as an indicator of ability. He spoke at the request of an interviewer by way of comment on the annual report of Dr. Lowell, president of Harvard University, who stated that the popular attitude toward excellence in college was not a complementary attitude.

Actor Loses His Sight But Continues to Play His Part

Ben Welch, Musical Comedian Appearing in Washington in "Jimmie" Doesn't Miss a Performance.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—News that Ben Welch, musical comedian, has lost his sight but is still appearing in the musical play, "Jimmie," in Washington, was received in New York by his friends yesterday. It later was verified in the capital.
Where on Sunday, after the company arrived there, Welch called Dr. Wilmer, an eye specialist, who told him
there was no hope for him, as the optical nerves were dead.

Because Welch has not missed a performance and seemingly works

without difficulty, few persons, even among those familiar with his appearance on the stage, have been aware that he does not see. No one in the audiences that attended the performances in the Shubert-Belasco Theater in Washington detected his misfortune, and the fact became known only on Wednesday when Mrs.
Welch consented to tell her friends
of what had happened.

When the actor heard that the news had been given out he laughed
and said: "Well, I'll get a good story on this. We ought to pack 'em in tonight!"

Physicians in Washington who have sought to help him have failed and none of them hold out hope that his sight can be restored. His sight began to fail last summer when he was in a revue in London. When Arthur Hammerstein engaged him to take a leading part in Frances White's starring vehicle, "Jimmie,"
the comedian's eyes were bothering him, but neither he nor his friends
believed the affliction to be dangerous. He began his season with the company four weeks ago, in Boston.

He became alarmed when one night
he found he could not see beyond the footlights. Since that time he has had days of sight and others of half-blindness. In Washington he stepped from his train in the railroad station and all before him became black. He has not seen since.

An understudy was provided, but Welch would not relinquish his role.
Each night in Washington he has been led to the wings by other members of the cast and when his music cue has come he has been placed in the doorway of the setting through which he walks, and he has done
the rest.

A carpet is placed on the floor of the setting and the actor advances to the rug, recites his lines, sings his songs and does his little dances without stepping from the rug. In this way he is prevented from stepping
over the footlights or into a stage set. He walks cautiously about the stage in his next scene, guiding himself by instinct and by the voices of the chorus girls. His long career in burlesque and in musical comedy
has enabled him to judge distances.

When he has finished his numbers
he makes his way carefully to the wings again and fellow actors are there to lead him back to his dressing room.

Welch is 45 years old and has appeared in burlesque, vaudeville and musical comedy in Broadway. Theater goes in New York hold him in high esteem.

CORPORATIONS TO BARE BOOKS

Jefferson City Senator Also Would Relieve Them of Filing Affidavits of Nonmembership in Trusts.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 21.— Senator Irwin of Jefferson City is the author of two measures which seek to do away with the legal requirements that corporations shall file affidavits that they are not parties to any pool, trust or agreement in restraint of trade, and to relieve corporations from examination of their books by the Secretary of State.

The proposed measures would prevent the Secretary of State from requiring the payment of the annual registration fees for corporations and would prevent him from making an examination of the books of corporations to determine whether they were complying with the law.

One whole article of the statutes
is sought to be repealed in one bill
and nearly 30 sections of another article by the other.

Under the present law all corporations are required to file an antitrust affidavit. Failure to file is made punishable by a heavy fine
and forfeiture of the charter of the corporation, and any officer who makes a false affidavit may be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term not exceeding seven years. Another section sought to be repealed provides that the Attorney-General shall conduct suits for violation of the anti-trust laws.

Senator Irwin, when asked the reason for the bills, replied:

"Missouri corporations are needlessly harassed by the State. They are required to make all sorts of reports and to file all sorts of affidavits, none of which do any good. They should be relieved of these annoyances."

REPORT IN PELTZER CASE FILED

Approval by Court and Discharge of Receiver Will End Tangle.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 21.—The final report in the Theodore C.
Peltzer investment Co. case was filed yesterday with Judge Van Valkenburgh by John M. Cleary, receiver.
Its approval by the Court and the discharge of the receiver, will close the intricate legal tangle resulting from the death, Sept. 29, 1915, of Peltzer, who jumped from a window of his office in the Scarritt Building.

Several bankruptcy proceedings were the outcome of the manner in which the investment company had involved other firms who had become heavy holders of notes, deeds
and mortgages found to be forged or fraudulent. The receiver's report shows the total amount of claims filed for adjustment was $1,146,- 582.09. Of that amount $281,212.37 was canceled outright. In the final disbursement of the assets a dividend of 40 per cent was paid on some small secured claims and a dividend of 1 1/2 per cent was paid on unsecured claims of almost $1,000,- 000.

SHIPPING BOARD TO INVESTIGATE ALLEGED MARINE AGREEMENT

International Company Said to Have Entered Into 20-Year Arrangement With British Government.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—An investigation will be made by the Shipping Board of the International Mercantile Marine Co., according to a statement by Senator Jones of Washington in his address yesterday
before the National Merchant Marine Association. Senator Jones declared the International Mercantile Marine in 1903 entered into a 20-year agreement with the British Government to pursue "no policy injurious to the interests of the British trade."

Chairman Benson announced to the convention that he intended to refer the matter to his board, with recommendation that any action warranted be taken. He said later that he was making efforts to obtain a copy of the agreement.
P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine, in replying to the Senator, said a copy of the agreement had been referred to Secretary of the Interior Payne

when he was chairman of the Shipping Board, and that it had been approved by him.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from back-ache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

HOW TO GAIN FLESH

Remarkable Statement of Woman Who Was Noting But Skin and Bones

You have heard the old adage, "Lough and Grow Fat", but this woman tells of a more reliable method. She says: "I was nothing but skin and bones—was weak, nervous, run-down—could not sleep, and was unfit for work. Three doctors had failed to help me. One day I saw VINOL advertised and commenced to take it, and I really believe it saved my life. I have regained my strength, flesh and health, and everyone is so surprised to see such a change in me in such a short time."

The reason VINOL was so successful in this case is because it contains the tissue building and medicinal elements of cod's livers, aided by the blood making, strength creating properties of tonic beef, beef peptone and hypophosphites.

VOTE ON SCHOOL TAX 3 DAYS AFTER SPRING ELECTION

Election Commissioners Indorse Plan of Board of Education for Special Election April 8.

The Board of Election Commissioners has indorsed the plan of the Board of Education for the special election April 8—three days after the regular spring election—for the purpose of asking the voters to increase the tax for school purposes from 60 cents to 85 cents on the $100 valuation of property.

Robert Burkham, attorney for the Board of Education, pointed out that by holding the special election on April 8 the city would save all registration and canvass expenses, amounting to between $30,000 and $100,000, which otherwise would have to be met if the election were held at a date remote from the spring election. Thus the Board of Election Commissioners would be permitted to use the registration and the canvass and all other preliminary routine work for both elections.

The resolution authorizing the holding of a special school tax election was passed by the Board of Education Jan. 13, after the Committee on Finance had reported that the constitutional 60 cents assessment would not be sufficient to carry on the work of the school system for the coming fiscal year. It was pointed out that the 75 cents per $100 valuation for school purposes voted last April was for a period of only one year.

If the increase suggested by the Board of Education is granted, the revenue of the public schools this year will be approximately $600,000 more than it was under the increase voted last year.

There is pending before the State Legislature a bill, prepared by Burkham, authorizing the Board of Education to fix the tax rates for four-year periods.

BALLOONIST SAYS CAMERA MEN AND QUESTIONS DROVE HIM WILD
Lieut. Farrell Testifies He Has Little Remembrance of Coming to Blows With His Comrade.

By the Associated Press.
ROCKAWAY, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Recovering sufficiently from the effects of his recent balloon trip to the frozen North, Lieut. Stephen A. Farrell, appearing yesterday before a naval board of inquiry, testified he had little remembrance of coming to blows with his comrade, Lieut. Walter Hinton, on their return to civilization.

When he reached the camp, Farrell said, he was absolutely "dog tired," but camera men continued to bother him. "I smiled for them, smoked cigarettes for them and did everything they asked to please them, and was all in when they got through with me," he added.

He said he accepted the invitation of a Hudson Bay company man to go to his room and have tea. While in the room, waiting for the man's mother to prepare food, Farrell said, the room began filling with men who questioned him. "The questioning seemed to drive me wild," he said.

"I worried me; I seemed to be fast losing my sense of reasoning power. I remember one of them telling me about things published about me in the newspapers. I seemed to get all excited. I was shaking all over the place. When the Hudson Bay man took me to the company's store and from there to the private car, I seemed to be 'dopey,' 'dog tired' and 'all in.' I could not sleep when I laid down. I scarcely remember seeing Hinton, and I was going 'nutty.'"

"Klor told me I had better apologize to Hinton," he said, "and I did so. Lieut. Hinton and I had always been good friends before the incident, and have been since."

HARDING SAYS PRESS HAS NOT LIVED UP TO RESPONSIBILITIES
Tells University Man It Has Been Moved More by Commercial Than Ethical Standards.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University, and noted as a psychologist, has given out a written statement on his return from a trip to Marion, O., to see President-elect Harding about helping to open the Joseph Medill School of Journalism, saying that he had found "a vigorous man, with a firm handshake, resonant voice and clear eye."

"I was so fascinated by his reminiscences and by his enthusiasm for the cause of journalism that I failed to make adequate mental notes of all that Mr. Harding said," Dr. Scott declared, "but the following sentences found place in my memory: 'The American press has not lived up to its responsibilities in molding the thought of the people. It has limited itself too much to dispensing sensational news and to making money. It has been influenced more by commercial than by ethical standards. It is very important that all available agencies should combine to elevate not only the ideals but also the practices of the American press.'"

Furs Reduced!

The rapid decline of Fur prices since the early Fall months is a well-known fact with which all are acquainted. The bottom seems to have been reached at last, however, and the wonderfully low prices quoted here for Saturday provide the time ideal to purchase Furs at lower prices than present market conditions indicate will prevail again next season.

MAN WOUNDED JAN. 3 IS AGAIN FIRED UPON

Brother of Bartender Who Admitted Previous Shooting Says He Was Assailed.

Joseph Torrey, 26 years old, who was shot and slightly wounded Jan. 3 by Eugene Hayes, 23, a bartender, 1712 South Tenth street, was fired upon again last night, and William Hayes, 18, a brother of Eugene, admitted that he did the shooting. No one was hurt.

Torrey and Henry Wysocki, who also was wounded by Eugene Hayes, refused at the time to identify him, although he admitted doing the shooting. Similarly, last night, William Hayes admitted firing upon Torrey and two companions, but Torrey vigorously denied knowing anything about it.

Both encounters were incidents of a vendetta that started a few weeks ago when Torrey, who lives at 1611 Menard street; Wysocki, of 913 Julia street, and Frank Millic, 183 South Tenth street, were fired in Police Court for creating a disturbance in the saloon where Eugene Hayes worked. He was a witness against them.

He and his brother William met Torrey, Wysocki and John Dagne, Torrey's brother-in-law, in front of 1728 South Tenth street, on the night of Jan. 3. Hayes said they attacked him. He shot Torrey and Wysocki. The latter was severely wounded.

Following the firing of four shots at Tenth and Hulla street last night, not far from the scene of the previous encounter, the police found William Hayes, who said Torrey, Millic and Dagne had waylaid and attacked him and that he had fired on them. Torrey and Millic were arrested later. Both denied knowing anything about the shooting.

"Gang ethics," as it is known, forbid that any participant in feuds shall enlist the aid of the police in settling their quarrels, the theory being that if injured they will avenge themselves in their own way.

NITTI HOPES AMERICA WILL MOVE TO LIMIT ARMAMENTS

Former Italian Premier Says Competition in Imperialism Has Become Senseless.

Rome, Jan. 21.—Francesco Nitti, formerly Premier of Italy, whom the Post-Dispatch correspondent found at his old home in Naples during the parliamentary recess, discussed the plan for limitation of armaments as follows:

"Europe's war has shown that it is a mistake to suppose peace follows war. During the war people said that the triumph of a program of peace would come with the triumph of the principles of justice and democracy. But Europe as a whole never had such military expenditures as now; never, as now, has the world as a whole put itself upon the road of an enormous increase of expenditure.

"Europe's decay has already begun—its mental decadence, demographic decadence and its moral decadence. Its economic decadence is already so great that I need not mention it.

"Each nation has its imperialism, great nations and little ones, especially little ones. Competition in imperialism has become senseless. The whole of civilization is threatened. Each nation arms because the others arm, and Europe is maintaining with violence a division between the victor and the vanquished which now threatens the future of the vanquished.

"I only hope and trust that America, for her own interests and for the interests of the whole world, will say the wise word and apply the program of democracy. It will be a greater triumph than any military triumph could possibly be."

ROBBERS FLEE FROM CIGAR STORE WHEN PROPRIETOR AND CUSTOMER DROP BEHIND COUNTER

Two men held up Fred G. Larche in his grocery at 6303 Manchester avenue at 4:30 o'clock last night. One covered him with a revolver while the other took $74.50 in cash and a check for $24.49 from the cash register.

Half an hour later two men went into the cigar store of Philip Fisch, 6659 Garner avenue, and called for a package of cigarettes. Fisch was conversing with Bernard Blum of 5214 Enright avenue, who also was behind the counter, and when the latter reached for the cigarettes the supposed customers drew revolvers. Fisch and Blum dropped to their knees behind the counter, and the robbers fled without taking anything.

Thomas Kelley, 49 years old, of 107 North Sixth street, a cook, was beaten on the head and face with revolvers by two highwaymen who accosted him at Seventh and Wash streets at 8 p. m. The robbers took $15 from him and escaped. Kelley was taken to the city hospital suffering from scalp wounds.

ITALIAN COMMUNISTS DEFEATED

By the Associated Press.
LEGHORN, Italy, Jan. 21.—Communist leaders who have been attempting to carry the Italian Socialist party into the Moscow Internationale suffered a decisive defeat in the balloting on the question last evening. It was announced today that the communists would bolt the Socialist congress and form an organization of their own. One faction objected to admission to the international and the other advocated membership with limitations. The last named seemed to have the largest following.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspirinal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

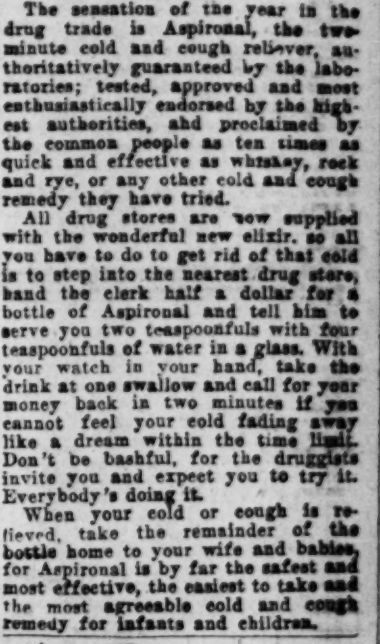

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter if Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as the simplest, quick and effective as whiskey, rum and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for the druggist invites you and expects you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable, and a cold and cough remedy for infants and children.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—cuts of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

GASSED BY FUMES, NUISANCE TO RIVERSIDE DRIVE, CHEMIST DIES

New York City's Assistant Corporation Counsel Inhaled Chlorine From New Jersey Plants.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—"Gassed" while performing his duties as assistant corporation counsel of the City of New York, Dr. William J. O'Sullivan died yesterday at his home.

When the city began its legal efforts to abate the Riverside drive fumes nuisance, more than a year ago, Dr. O'Sullivan was called on to take charge of the prosecution. He decided it would be necessary for him to visit the plants which caused the trouble. He went to New Jersey with another chemist and spent a day going through the plants. He was exposed to fumes of chlorine. He went home and took to bed. He improved temporarily and was assigned to the case the city instituted to stop the flow of the sewer commission which empties into the upper bay. Doctors report death was due to the chlorine fumes which destroyed important elements in his blood.

Avoid paying for water and waste

The fresh apples you have been buying contain nearly 85% water—the same kind that comes from your kitchen faucet.

When you buy such apples by the pound, you pay for the water and for the waste.

When you have pared and cored a pound of such apples, you have about half a pound left for cooking.

King's Apples are Dehydrated—the water is removed so they cannot spoil; they are cleaned, pared and cored—there is no waste and practically no work in preparing them.

These points of economy and convenience are worth considering.

YOUTH ACCUSED OF ATTEMPTING TO DRAW ANOTHER'S MONEY

Says Man Whose Bank Book He Carried Had Requested Him to Do So.

Rollie Thompson, 22 years old, who lives with his father, a restaurant owner, at 901 South Fourteenth street, is being held by the police on a charge of attempting to draw $200 from the Night and Day Bank yesterday from the savings account of Louis O. Cunningham, 825 South Eighteenth street.

Thompson had Cunningham's savings book and wrote a check for the amount in the book, signing Cunningham's name. When the signature was questioned at the bank, Thompson attempted to leave, but was detained by a clerk, who called the police.

The police called on Cunningham and say he informed them that he had been slugged and robbed of $35 and his bank book, Wednesday night, in the rear of the saloon of Fred Pair, 1329 Chouteau avenue, by strangers, and that he had been drinking and did not clearly recall exactly what occurred. When informed of Cunningham's statement, Thompson said he was at that saloon and that Cunningham paid a bill of $25, which left him without money, and that he gave his bank book to him and requested him to draw his money at the bank and bring it to the saloon yesterday.

WOMAN DRUGS, ROBS GIRL, 18

Victim Was Invited to Smell a "Rare Perfume."

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Ruth O'Shea, an 18-year-old university student, found unconscious in an alley a block from her home in the North Side residential quarter, recovered consciousness last night and told the police she had been drugged by a woman met while riding home on a bus. She said the woman held a handkerchief to her face under the pretense that it contained a rare perfume.

Miss O'Shea's head was badly cut when she was found at 10 o'clock Thursday night and her purse, which she said contained $30, held only small change. Miss O'Shea said she had been to a hospital to visit a friend and that on the way home she conversed with a well-dressed woman who occupied the same seat with her on the bus. The woman turned the conversation to perfumes as they got off, said Miss O'Shea, and then asked her to smell a rare perfume on her handkerchief. "She held the handkerchief to my face," Miss O'Shea told the police, "and that is all I remember."

STORE EMPLOYEE INDICTED ON CHARGE OF GRAND LARCENY

Said to Have Admitted Taking Articles Since Nov. 15—Goods Valued at $500 Recovered.

George Meinel, 33 years old, of 2613 Howard street, who was arrested Monday night for alleged thefts from the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co., where he was employed in the shipping room, was indicted yesterday on a charge of grand larceny. George Nefters, a grocer, of 2709 Madison street, to whom Meinel had given several articles in payment of his grocery bill, was indicted for receiving stolen property.

When Meinel was arrested as he was leaving the building, he had several articles which were taken from the stock of his employers. He then admitted to the police that he had been taking articles since Nov. 15, a month after he had been hired. The police have since recovered articles valued at between $500 to $1000 from Meinel's home and other places.

BILL TO EXEMPT $500 FOR CHILD

Roosevelt Introduces Measure in New York Assembly.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who has introduced a bill in the Assembly to increase from $200 to $500 the personal tax exemption for each child, was asked what prompted him to present the measure. "My own experience as a father," answered the Colonel. "An exemption of $500 is little enough with food and clothing costing what they do today."

"Do you think" Roosevelt was asked, "that a higher exemption would bring the stork around more often?" "If it would," replied young Roosevelt, "I'd be willing to make the exemption as high as $1000." If Col. Roosevelt's bill passes the Legislature it is safe to say Gov. Miller will sign it. He has seven daughters, his friends say. They are all daughters.

WOMAN ELOPER'S $104 AND MAN MISSING

She Calls Policemen to Hotel and Tells of Leaving Husband
in Chicago.

Mrs. Freda Sparks, 25 years old, summoned policemen to her room in the Marquette Hotel at 7 a. m. today and told them that she had been deserted by a man with whom she had come here from Chicago. She said she met the man in a Chicago beauty parlor a week ago and that, having separated from her husband, she had agreed to run away with the man, who, she said, promised to marry her when she should be divorced.

She loaned the man $120, and they came here and registered Wednesday at the Marquette as Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Williams of Springfield, Ill. Yesterday she became ill and called a physician. Her companion was present during the physician's call, but when she awoke at 1 a. m. today he had left, and her money, $104 and a diamond ring were also missing. She said she valued the ring at $600.

She is now willing to return to her husband, of whom, she says, she grew tired because he was older than she. The man with whom she eloped was 42 years old.

MOVIE MEN PLAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST PROPOSED BLUE LAWS

Exhibitors to Raise Maintenance Fund to Be Used to Employ Organizer.

Plans for an organized campaign against the proposed Sunday blue laws were discussed at a meeting yesterday of the Motion Picture Owners and Exhibitors of Missouri at Hotel Statler. A maintenance fund is to be raised which will be used to employ an organizer and to promote closer co-operation among the exhibitors.

James N. McKelvey, Director of Public Safety, in an address said there are 157 theaters in St. Louis with a combined seating capacity of 117,927, or one seat to every seven persons in population. The exhibitors will take up today the matter of the producers requiring a deposit on every film contracted for. They say that they often lose money when a producing firm goes bankrupt. Joseph Mogler, vice president of the organization, stated that he knows of several exhibitors who have as much as $1500 tied up in films and that they have use for the money.

WAGES OF HIRED MEN ON FARMS MORE THAN DOUBLE IN 10 YEARS

They Have Tripled in Last 20 Years;
More Than Four Times Higher
Last Year Than in 1879.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Wages of hired men on farms have more than doubled in the last 10 years, tripled in the last 20 years and were more than four times higher last year than they were in 1879. These changes are shown by statistics of the Department of Agriculture. Wages paid by the month, without board, averaged $4.95 for the country as a whole last year; 10 years ago they averaged $2.75 and in 1879 they were $1.04. Day labor at harvest time last year averaged $4.25 without board and at other than harvest time $3.59. Ten years ago harvest time labor was paid $1.92 and at other than harvest time $1.35. In 1894 harvest time labor was paid $1.13 and non-harvest time labor $1 cents a day. California and Nevada farmers paid their labor the highest prices for labor without board, the average in those states last year having been $107 a month. The lowest average was in Mississippi, where $41 was paid. The average for the country as a whole was $64.95, the Northern Atlantic States averaged $74.54, the South Atlantic $50.56, the North East Central States, $70.09, the Northwest Central States, $73.79, the South Central States $51.94 and the Far Western States, $39.42. For harvest time labor without board North Dakota paid the highest rate with $7.40 cents a day, while at other than harvest time South Dakota paid the highest rate with $5.90 a day.

WOMAN LOSES $2200 IN BONDS, BOY $1000

Shopper Reports Package Missing After Visits to Three Downtown Stores.

Mrs. Mary J. Cotton, 2839 McDonald avenue, has asked the police to help her recover Liberty Bonds valued at $2200, wrapped in brown paper and pinned at the ends, which she lost while shopping at one of three downtown department stores
yesterday afternoon.

She reported she had drawn the bonds from a bank at 1 p. m. and
had made the rounds of the stores,
missing the package shortly before 6
p. m. at the last store she visited.
The bonds, she said, belonged to her,
with the exception of $400 worth,
which were the property of her husband, Austin E. Cotton, president of the Standard Artificial Limb Co., 1910 Olive street.

Daniel Robertson, 18 years old, a messenger boy for Imbrie & Co., brokers, 411 Olive street, reported
the loss of two $500 Armour & Co.
bonds in the downtown district yesterday.

TURKISH SENATOR TELLS OF SUFFERING IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Women and Children Homeless and Starving, He Says; on Mission to Rome.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

ROME, Jan. 21.—Ahmed Riza, a Senator of the Ottoman Empire, who was president of the Turkish Chamber of Deputies and Senate, is here with a delegation which includes the former Grand Vizier, Hilma Pasha.
Ahmed Riza hopes to influence the Italian Government, Chamber of Deputies and Senate to demand a revision of the Sevres treaty, whereby Greece obtains Thrace, Smyrna and other large concessions. In an interview with a Post-Dispatch correspondent, Ahmed Riza drew a terrible picture of the sufferings of the poor in Constantinople.

"The women and children of Constantinople are homeless and starving," he said. "Because of the blockade very little food reaches the city
and this is compounded chiefly of fish from the Bosphorus. Formerly the poor could subsist on two cents' worth of fish a day, but now the allied armies requisition all food and the poor widows and orphans of men who died in the war must exist on the smallest quantity. To obtain even this they are obliged to sell
most of their necessary household articles, because their savings and little keepakes have gone long ago."

"Now 250,000 refugees from General Wrangle's army have invaded the city. Hungry, desperate and unruly, they are taking the little which the troops of occupation left."

"I cannot talk about the moral aspect—about the sacrifice and ruin
of women and young girls to save themselves from sheer starvation," Ahmed Riza added. "It is too terrible. We were wrong to make war and it is right that we should be punished. But it is wicked that the war which it was said must be won for the sake of President Wilson's 14 points should press still its weight of misery and suffering on innocent women and children. Therefore, I appeal to the humanity of Americans
to help to end these things."

FAVORABLE REPORT ON BILL FOR U. S. JUDGES TO NAME CLERKS

Caraway's Measure Would End Requirement of Approval of Appellate Judge.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The House Judiciary Committee has favorably reported a bill introduced by Representative Caraway of Arkansas to change the method of appointment of clerks of Federal District Courts. Under the present law
the appointment is made by the District Judge subject to the approval of the senior Judge of the Appellate Court for that district. Caraway's bill seeks to let the District Judge
make the appointment without securing this approval. The report submitted with the bill to the House
states that the District Judge should have the unhampered right to name
his clerk, owing to the close relations that exist between the two.
The Appellate Judge, it is urged,
should have no voice in the appointment as he does not come into contact with the clerk except on occasions when he may sit in place of the District Judge. The bill was introduced about three weeks ago and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

TRIAL OF WOMAN ON CHARGE OF KILLING MINING MAN IS BEGUN

Witness Tells of Discovery of Body Which Prosecution Contends Was That of Jacob C. Denton.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 21.— Details of the discovery of a body which the prosecution contends was that of Jacob Charles Denton, a wealthy mining man, were related yesterday in the testimony of Rush Blodgett, an attorney called as a witness for the State in the trial of Mrs.
Louise L. Peete for the alleged murder of Denton.

Thomas L. Woolfson, District Attorney, in his opening statement to the jury declared he "intended to prove Mrs. Peete shot and killed Denton."

He told the jurors further that proof would be offered them that Mrs. Peete "masqueraded" as the wife of the dead man, that she forged his name to checks, that she tried to sell his house, where his body was found buried in the cellar last September;
that she caused his ring to be pawned
and claimed to have knowledge he was alive after June 1 last, the date
the State contends he was murdered.

Supreme Court Justice, in Dissenting Opinion Upon Majority's Boycott Decision, Points to Modern Conditions.

IS NOW RECOGNIZED

Declares Duty to the Community
Rises Above All Rights and Refers to Reversal
in Common Law.

Copies of the dissenting opinion of Justice Brandeis of the Supreme Court to the majority decision handed down in the case of the Duplex Printing Co. against officials of the Machinists' and other unions, in which the question of boycott and secondary boycott was passed upon, have reached St. Louis.

The decision was bitterly assailed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, when on his visit to this city recently. The dissent of Justice Brandeis was concurred in by Justices Holmes and Clarke, and is as follows:

The Duplex Company, a manufacturer of newspaper printing presses, seeks to enjoin officials of the machinists' and affiliated unions from interfering with its business by inducing their members not to work for plaintiff or its customers in connection with the setting up of presses made by it. Unlike Hirschman Coal and Coke Co. v. Mitchell, 243 U. S. 229, there is here no charge that defendants are inducing employees to break their contracts. Nor is it now urged that defendants threaten acts of violence. But plaintiff insists that the acts complained of violate both the common law of New York and the Sherman act and that, accordingly, it is entitled to relief by injunction under the State law and under section 16 of the Clayton act, Oct. 15, 1914, c. 323, 33 Stat. 730, 737.

The defendants admit interference with plaintiff's business but justify on the following ground: There are in the United States only four manufacturers of such presses; and they are in active competition. Between 1909 and 1913 the machinists' union induced three of them to recognize and deal with the union, to grant the eight-hour day, to establish a minimum wage scale and to comply with other union requirements. The fourth, the Duplex Company, refused to recognize the union; insisted upon conducting its factory on the open-shop principle; refused to introduce the eight-hour day and operated for the most part, 10 hours a day; refused to establish a minimum wage scale; and disregarded other union standards. Thereupon two of the three manufacturers who had assented to union conditions, notified the union that they should be obliged to terminate their agreements with it unless their competitor, the Duplex Company, also entered into the agreement with the union, which, in giving more favorable terms to labor, imposed correspondingly greater burdens upon the employer.

Because the Duplex Company refused to enter into such an agreement and in order to induce it to do so, the machinists' union declared a strike at its factory, and in aid of that strike instructed its members and the members of affiliated unions not to work on the installation of presses which plaintiff had delivered in New York. Defendants insist that by the common law of New York, where the acts complained of were done, and where this suit was brought, and also by section 20 of the Clayton act, 33 Stat. 739, 748, the facts constitute a justification for this interference with plaintiff's business.

First. As to the rights at common law: Defendants' justification is that of self-interest. They have supported the strike at the employer's factory by a strike elsewhere against its product. They have injured the plaintiff, not maliciously, but in self-defense. They contend that the Duplex Company's refusal to deal with the machinists' union and to observe its standards threatened the interest not only of such union members as were its factory employees, but even more of all members of the several affiliated unions employed by plaintiff's competitors and by others whose more advanced standards the plaintiff was, in reality, attacking; and that none of the defendants and no person whom they are endeavoring to induce to refrain from working in connection with the setting up of presses made by plaintiff is an outsider, an interloper. In other words, that the contest between the company and the machinists' union involves vitally the interest of every person whose co-operation is sought. May not all with a common interest join in refusing to expend their labor upon articles whose very production constitutes an attack upon their standard of living and the institution which they are convinced supports the answer should, in my opinion, be: Yes, if as matter of fact those who so co-operate have a common interest.

The change in the law by which strikes once illegal and even criminal are now recognized as lawful was effected in America largely without the intervention of legislation. This reversal of a common law rule was not due to the rejection by the courts of one principle and the adoption of another, but to a better realization of the facts of industrial life. It is conceded that, although the strike of the workmen in plaintiff's factory injured its business, the strike was not an actionable wrong; because the obvious self-interest of the strikers constituted a justification. See Pickett v. Walsh, 192

Mass. 572. Formerly courts held that self-interest could not be so served. Commons, History of Labor in the United States, Vol. 2, ch. 5. But even after strikes to raise wages or reduce hours were held to be legal because of the self-interest, some courts held that there was not sufficient causal relationship between a strike to unionize a shop and the self-interest of the strikers to justify injuries inflicted. Plant v. Woods, 176 Mass. 442; Locke v. Clothing Cutters' Assembly, 77 Md. 496; Erdman v. Mitchell, 207 Pa. St. 79. But other courts, repeating the same legal formula, found that there was justification, because they viewed the facts differently. National Protective Association v. Cumming, 170 N. Y. 315; Kemp v. Division No. 241, 256 Ill. 215; Roddy v. United Mine Workers, 41 Okla. 621. When centralization in the control of business brought its corresponding centralization in the organization of workmen, new facts had to be appreciated.

A single employer might, as in this case, threaten the standing of the whole organization and the standards of all its members; and while he did so the union, in order to protect itself, would naturally refuse to work on his materials wherever found. When such a situation was first presented to the courts, judges concluded that the intervention of the purchaser of the materials established an insulation through which the direct relationship of the employer and the workmen did not penetrate; and the strike against the material was considered a strike against the purchaser by unaffected third parties. Burnham v. Dowd, 217 Mass. 351; Purvis v. United Brotherhood, 214 Pa. St. 348; Booth v. Europe, 72 N. J. 32, 18. But other courts, with better appreciation of the facts of industry, recognized the unity of interest throughout the union, and that, in refusing to work on materials which threatened it, the union was only refusing to aid in destroying itself. Bossett v. Dhuy, 221 N. Y. 342; Cohn & Roth Electric Co. v. Bricklayers, 92 Conn. 161; Gill Engraving Co. v. Doerr, 214 Pa. St. 348; Van Pelt, 136 N. C. 433; Grant Construction Co. v. St. Paul Building Trades, 136 Minn. 167; Pierce v. Stables' Union, 156 Cal. 70, 74.

So, in the case at bar, deciding a question of fact upon the evidence introduced and matters of common knowledge, I should say, as the two lower courts apparently have said, that the defendants and those from whom they sought co-operation have a common interest which the plaintiff threatened. This view is in harmony with the views of the Court of Appeals of New York. For in New York, although boycotts like that in Loewe v. Lawlor, 208 U. S. 274 are illegal because they are conducted not against a product but against those who deal in it and are carried out by a combination of persons not united by common interest but only by sympathy; Auburn Draying Co. v. Wardwell, 227 N. Y. 1 it is lawful for all members of a union by whom ever employed to refuse to handle materials whose production weakens the union. Bossett v. Dhuy, supra; P. Reardon, Inc. v. Caton, 189 App. Div. (N. Y.) 501; compare Paine Lumber Co. v. Neal, 244 U. S. 189, 421. "The voluntary adoption of a rule not to work on nonunion made material and its enforcement differs only in degree from such voluntary rule and its enforcement in a particular case. Such a determination also differs entirely from a general boycott of a particular dealer or manufacturer with a malicious intent and purpose to destroy the good will or business of such dealer or manufacturer." Bossett v. Dhuy, supra, p. 255. In my opinion, therefore, plaintiff had no cause of action by the common law of New York.

Second. As to the anti-trust laws of the United States; Section 20, of the Clayton act, declares: "Nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be considered or held to be violations of any law of the United States."

The acts which are thus referred to are, whether performed singly or in concert:

"Terminating any relation of employment, or ceasing to perform any work or labor, or recommending, advising or persuading others by peaceful means so to do; or • • • attending at any place where such person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of obtaining or communicating information, or • • • peacefully persuading any person to work or to abstain from working; or • • • ceasing to patronize or employ any party to such dispute, • • • recommending, advising, or persuading

CROSS EYES STRAIGHTENED

BEFORE AFTER

This man, HENRY DIETZ, a resident of Chicago, suffered the misfortune of cross-eyes for 25 years. He was intelligent and well educated, but because his eyes were crossed he could never rise in the world. Had to suffer and be laid down. His dream was to have STRAIGHT EYES. I MADE HIS DREAM COME TRUE. Look at these pictures, before he came to see me and after. When this big hand was removed, he began at once to improve his position. He was not only a happy man, but a successful one. With good looks his position improved. He is only one case among hundreds that I have cured of the misfortune of cross-eyes. Do you or any of your friends need expert help for your cross-eyes? I CAN and DO straighten them in one visit, without pain, chloroform or hospital, right in my office. Either talk or write, will give you a letter to Mr. Dietz. His address is No. 8254 So. Maplewood Ave., Chicago.

bling in a lawful manner and for a lawful purpose; or doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto." The statute was the fruit of unceasing agitation, which extended over more than 30 years and was designed to equalize before the law the position of workmen and employer as industrial combatants. Aside from the use of disaffection, the chief source of dissatisfaction with the existing law lay in the doctrine of malicious combination, and, in many parts of the country, in the judicial declarations of the illegality at common law of picketing and persuading others to leave work. The grounds for objection to the latter are obvious. The objection to the doctrine of malicious combinations requires some explanation. By virtue of that doctrine, damage resulting from conduct such as striking or withholding patronage or persuading others to do either, without more might be deemed abhorrent because the result of trade competition, because actionable when done for a purpose which a judge considered socially or economically harmful and therefore branded as malicious and unlawful. It was objected that due largely to environment, the social and economic ideas of judges which thus became translated into law, were prejudicial to a position of equality between workman and employer; that due to this dependence upon the individual opinion of judges great confusion existed as to what purposes were lawful and what unlawful; and that in any event Congress, not the judges, was the body which should declare what public policy in regard to the industrial struggle demanded.

By 1914 the ideas of the advocates of legislation had fairly crystallized upon the manner in which the inequality and uncertainty of the law should be removed. It was to be done by expressly legalizing certain acts regardless of the effects produced by them upon other persons. As to them Congress was to enact the element of injury from the damage thereby inflicted, instead of leaving judges to determine according to their own economic and social views whether the damage inflicted upon an employer by industrial struggle was damnum abque injuria, because an incident of trade competition, or a legal injury, because in their opinion, economically and socially objectionable. This idea was presented to the committee which reported the Clayton act. The resulting law set out certain acts which had previously been held unlawful, whenever courts had disapproved of the end for which they were performed; it then declared that when these acts were committed in the course of an industrial dispute, they should not be held to violate any law of the United States. In other words the Clayton act substituted the opinion of Congress as to the propriety of the purpose for that of differing judges; and thereby it declared that the relations between employers of labor and workmen were competitive relations, that organized competition was not harmful and that it justified injuries necessarily inflicted in its course. Both the majority and the minority report of the House committee indicated that such was its purpose. If, therefore, the act applies to the case at bar, the acts here complained of cannot "be considered or held to be violations of any law of the United States," and, hence, do not violate the Sherman act.

The Duplex company contends that section 10 of the Clayton act does not apply to the case at bar, because it is restricted to cases "between an employer and employee, or between employers and employees, or between employers and persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment." whereas the case at bar arises between an employer and a group of workmen in Michigan and workmen in New York not in its employment, and does not involve their conditions of employment. But Congress did not restrict the provision to employers and workmen in their employment. By including "employers and employees" and "persons employed and persons seeking employment" it showed that it was not aiming merely at a legal relationship between a specific employer and his employees. Furthermore, the plaintiff's contention proves too much. If the words are to receive a strict technical construction, the statute will have no application to disputes between employers of labor and workmen, since the very act to which it applies severs the continuity of the legal relationship. Iron Molders' Union vs. Ailsa-Chalmers Co., 146 Fed. 45, 82-3; Louisville v. Ry. Co., 138 U.S. 501, 505; of Ry. v. Nelson, 44 N.E. 438, 491. The further contention that this case is not one arising out of a dispute concerning the conditions of work of one of the parties is in my opinion, founded upon a misconception of the facts. Because I have come to the conclusion that both the common law of a state and a statute of the United States declare the right of industrial combatants to push their struggle to the limits of the justification of self-interest, I do not wish to be understood as attaching any constitutional or moral sanction to that right. All rights are derived from the purposes of the society in which they exist; above all rights, rises duty to the community. The conditions developed in industry may be such that those engaged in it cannot continue their struggle without danger to the community. But it is not for judges to determine whether such conditions exist, nor is it their function to set the limits of permissible contest and to declare the duties which the new situation demands. This is the function of the Legislature, which, limiting individual and group rights of aggression and defense, may substitute processes of justice for the more primitive method of trial by combat.

SCHWAB DENIES SHIPPING BOARD PAID HIS EXPENSES

Testifies He Never Even Collected $1 a Year Salary When Director-General of Fleet Corporation.

SAYS WITNESS' STORY IS MALICIOUSLY FALSE

Declares $260,000 Voucher Described May Have Existed, but Was Not for His Personal Expenses.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Charles M. Schwab appeared before the Walsh Congressional Committee this morning and denied testimony given yesterday by Col. E. H. Abadie, former Comptroller of the United States Shipping Board, to the effect that Schwab's personal expenses for October, 1918, amounting to $260,000, were charged to the Shipping Board. Schwab declared the statements were "absolutely, unqualifiedly and maliciously false," and that he personally paid all of his own expenses during his term of office as Director-General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Did Not Collect $1 a Year.

Schwab said that although he was supposed to receive a dollar a year salary, he did not even collect that and for his travels from shipyard to shipyard, while at the head of the Fleet Corporation, he asserted he never received any compensation and did not want any.

Schwab admitted that such a voucher as that charged by Col. Abadie may have been paid to him, but declared it was not for the purpose claimed by Abadie and no part of it was charged to ship construction.

His acceptance of the position as head of the Fleet Corporation, he told the committee, was only at the urgent request of the chairman of the board and President Wilson. Col. Abadie, who again took the stand, said he regretted the necessity for connecting Schwab with the voucher, and said he hoped it was an error and that Schwab would be cleared.

Asked further concerning the voucher, Col. Abadie reiterated his previous testimony that information concerning it had been given to him by Mr. Morse of Perley, Morse & Co., accountants employed to audit Shipping Board books. He said $100,000 was charged to ship construction.

The witness, in reply to a question, admitted that Morse had told him how the other $160,000 had been spent, but declined to repeat what he had been told and said it concerned the Bethlehem corporation only.

"You are at perfect liberty to give that information if you desire," Schwab interrupted.

Col. Abadie, however, said it was given to him confidentially. Schwab was called to appear again next Tuesday.

Abadie characterized the matter he described as "one of several serious irregularities" that occurred during Schwab's dual position as Director-General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation and official of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. He added, however, that he believed they occurred without Schwab's personal knowledge.

Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, issued a statement emphatically denying that any improper payments had been made to his company while Schwab was Director-General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Abadie, in his testimony, said a voucher for $260,000 "for personal expenses of an officer of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation" was found in an audit of the main office of that company. He identified this "officer" as Schwab. The voucher was made for the month of October, 1918.

"One hundred thousand dollars of this amount," he testified, "was arbitrarily charged to ship construction."

The voucher in question, Col. Abadie added, was not seen by him, nor was its alleged amount or purpose verified. He said it was reported to him by Morse of the firm of Perley, Morse & Co., expert accountants, employed by him as comptroller of the Shipping Board to make an independent audit of shipbuilding companies. He also testified that from what he knew of Schwab he would be the first man to condemn any injustice by his corporation toward the Government. He added he thought the voucher in question could be explained.

The subject was brought up by Col. Abadie in explaining certain matters connected with his resignation from the board.

He charged that Martin J. Gillen, then special assistant to John Barton Payne, chairman of the board, had connived to get him removed.

The auditing brought on a dispute with Chairman Payne as to his (Abadie's) authority to order it.

Col. Abadie said he filed his resignation and it was accepted.

NATURALLY HEATED CAVE

BEND, Ore., Jan. 21.—A naturally heated cave has been discovered at Horse Butte, which apparently draws its warmth from a subterranean volcanic source. The discovery was made by C. A. Yarnell and H. D.

Elde, local fuel dealers. The cave is located near the top of the butte and first attracted attention when a wave of heat was felt issuing from the mouth. The cinder bottom and rock walls of the tunnel are unbearably hot to the touch, the heat increasing as far back as could be explored. That the phenomenon is a recent manifestation was indicated by the smoldering of grass and twigs near the opening. To test the natural oven Yarnell cooked a light breakfast by introducing raw articles of food into the aperture and closing the orifice for a few moments.

NEW HIGHWAY AND PARK LIGHTS TO BE IN USE BY MARCH

Electric System Will Include 3509 Lights of Modern Design, With 3013 Concrete Posts.

SAVING IN OPERATION TO PAY FOR THE WORK

Director of Public Utilities Says Economy of Maintenance Will Cover Cost of Installation in 20 Years.

All the new electric highway lights
in the park and in many outlying districts of the city are expected to be in operation next March, unless unseasonable weather difficulties or delay in material delivery intervenes.
The lights are to be paid for out of the $1,000,000 bonds authorized for the purpose as part of the recently passed bond issue.

Since the second of October 123 lights on one circuit, have been in operation, and a number of other circuits are nearly ready for operation. There will be 3509 electric lights of modern design included in the present scheme. Of these, 3013 will have concrete posts. There are 3188 naphtha lamps and 141 gas lamps being replaced by electric lights. Naphtha lamps on iron posts to the number of 255 will be replaced with electric lamps.

Director of Public Utilities Hooke said today that the installation of this group of electric lights would be paid for in about 20 years by the savings in operation. The cost of installation of the 3509 lights, at about $119 each, a figure including all wiring and substitution cost, will be about $418,422. Roughly, they will cost $1,000 to $1,200 a year to maintain and operate exclusive of interest, depreciation and other charges.

Cost of Other Lamps.
The 3007 naphtha lamps cost $64 a year each to maintain and burn, or about $122,448 a year. The 141 gas lamps at $312.24 apiece, cost $44,004 a year.

The Welsbach Street Lighting Co.
of America had a 10-year contract to light the naphtha lamps at $23 a year
each, but the contract expired Aug.
31, last. During the life of the contract naphtha, or gasoline, to it included, had increased in cost from 7
cents to a present figure of 28 1/2 cents a gallon. Each light requires $119 a year.

The light furnished by the new lights is not the bluish flickering kind that is familiar in the old-fashioned light system used in townships. Furthermore, the poles are much more sturdy than any of the old standards now in use.

Gas-hundred candle-power Mazda
lamps are used, included in white enamel of ribbed glass. The ribs serve to break up vertical rays of light and send them out horizontally,
the desired effect being a wide distribution of bright light that does not glare.

Poles are 14 Feet High.
The poles are about 14 feet high,
with square bases and tapering tops. Crushed granite is used as the aggregate in the concrete mixture, giving a mottled, brown finish.
The design was made a year ago by H. J. Tomsfeldt, electrical engineer of the Department of Public Utilities, who also made the layout for the general distribution of the wiring and poles.

The lights now in operation are those on King's highway, between Delmar and Labadie avenues, and in Sherman Park, which is at King's highway and Easton avenue. The lights on King's highway from Laba-die avenue to Fenwick Park, and in Sherman Park, are ready for operation,
except for the completion of the sub-stations to be placed in the park. Material for this has been delayed.

Delay in delivery of switchboard material is all that prevents the lights in O'Fallon and Fairground parks from being turned on, and also those on Calvary avenue, from being turned on West Florissant avenue.
The first of eight circuits of lights in Sherman Park have been completed.
Unshielded cable is needed for the completion of the other circuits.

There will be two substations in Forest Park, one in the Lindell pavilion
and the other in the Labadie pavilion.
The circuit on King's highway, between Delmar and Labadie avenues, along the eastern edge of Forest Park, is virtually completed.
Park Lights Changed.

Other parks which will have lights
are Bellefontaine, Benton, Carnesville, Carondelet, Dakota, Fountain, Gravois, Hyde, Jackson, Park, Lafayette, Lyon, South St.
Louis Square, St. Louis park, Tower
Garden, Yastman Square.

The 25 other districts which are
to have electric lights are in the northwestern and southwestern portions of the city, the most important of these regions perhaps being
that around Goodfellow and Natural Bridge avenues, in the north-
western industrial district.

Districts to have large numbers of
electric lights are as follows: Forest
Park, 981; Carondelet Park and district, 465; Industrial district, 200; Chain
of Rocks district, 164; O'Fallon Park,
158, and Fairground Park, 143.
These figures are for the number of
concrete posts.

Fixtures to Be Changed.
The iron posts on which electric
lamps will be substituted for naphtha
fixtures, 255 in number, are scattered over various districts. The largest group is in the vicinity of Delmar boulevard and Rosedale avenue, where 150 are being changed.
The Welsbach company has agreed
to sell the posts to the city for $7.50
apiece, which, with the cost of new
fixtures, will make each post cost $20 to electrify, plus the cost of the wiring.

The concrete posts cost $25 apiece
to make, and the addition of the fixtures brings the cost to $55. The posts are made at the municipal
docks at the foot of North Market
street. The substations are also made here. They are 8x10 feet in size, made of concrete, and are to be hauled on trucks to the place of service, where switchboards will be installed.

The Board of Public Service will receive bids on Jan. 23 for the lighting of the electrical system. The La-

VALLEY ASSOCIATION FOR COMPREHENSIVE PROGRAM OF RIVER DEVELOPMENT

Resolutions Sponsored by James E. Smith of St.
Louis, Contemplate $100,000,000 Yearly Appropriations by Congress.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A comprehensive plan for the permanent improvement of the navigable waterways of the Mississippi Valley is demanded of Congress in resolutions unanimously adopted late yesterday afternoon at the closing session of the Mississippi Valley Association's assembly here.

The resolution embodying the full program were urged upon the convention by James E. Smith of St.
Louis and other spokesmen of the waterway interests of the valley.
Declaring that the valley must have increased transportation facilities, so that its people may reach the full capacity of their farm and factory production, the association resolved:

"1. That the Mississippi Valley Association demand of Congress the adoption of a definite comprehensive plan for the permanent improvement of all of the navigable waterways within this territory, which have already been approved by United States engineers or which may be approved
by them and added to the proposed projects for early completion, the work on all such projects
to be carried on upon the continuing contract plan to the end, and that they may be completed and put into use in the shortest time
possible, and to stop the waste
now occasioned by ineffective appropriations and by the lack of vigilance which the work is being prosecuted.

"2. That the project included in the general plan for improvement
be taken up in the order of their importance, first, attention to be given to the main rivers, which may be regarded as trunk lines
of the valley, and second, to the tributaries, and that the work on these main lines must be pushed
as rapidly as possible so as to secure their completion and use."

"3. That as soon as the trunk line channels are completed the accumulated plant and equipment (which will have been previously in use in the improvement of the tributaries) be turned over to the service in carrying on the work upon the improvement of the branch line feeders of the main lines, which will include all rivers
and streams of the valley.

"4. That in the prosecution of the proposed plan of creating and establishing a national waterways
system of transportation the plan adopted should provide for the completion of the entire system within a period of 10 years, and earlier, if possible, to the end that the great problem of transportation, which is at present a menace
to our future growth and development, may be satisfactorily and permanently solved.

Appropriation Asked For.
"5. That the appropriation of not less than $100,000,000 per annum
be made by Congress for the purpose of carrying on the suggested

plans of the valley, the most important of these regions perhaps being
that around Goodfellow and Natural Bridge avenues, in the north-
western industrial district.

electric lights are as follows: Forest
Park, 981; Carondelet Park and district, 465; Industrial district, 200; Chain
of Rocks district, 164; O'Fallon Park,
158, and Fairground Park, 143.
These figures are for the number of
concrete posts.

The iron posts on which electric
lamps will be substituted for naphtha
fixtures, 255 in number, are scattered over various districts. The
largest group is in the vicinity of
Delmar boulevard and Rosedale avenue, where 150 are being changed.
The Welsbach company has agreed
to sell the posts to the city for $7.50
apiece, which, with the cost of new
fixtures, will make each post cost $20 to electrify, plus the cost of the wiring.

The concrete posts cost $25 apiece
to make, and the addition of the
posts are made at the municipal
docks at the foot of North Market
street. The substations are also
made here. They are 8x10 feet in
size, made of concrete, and are to be
hauled on trucks to the place of
service, where switchboards will be
installed.

The Board of Public Service will receive bids on Jan. 23 for the lighting of the electrical system. The La-
Light and Power Co. and Cupples Station Light, Heat and Power Co.

The 25 other districts which are
to have electric lights are in the
northwestern and southwestern por-
tions of the city, the most important of these regions perhaps being
that around Goodfellow and Natural Bridge avenues, in the north-

URGE LAW FOR RIGID

appetite was created by the moving picture industry, which ought to be made to undo the evil which it has done. Another and better answer,

I think, is that going to moving pictures has become a habit with most persons to such an extent that they go to their favorite theaters week after week without much discrimination, and they would continue to go in as great numbers if the standards of the pictures were raised and all objectionable features were eliminated. The people have not so much formed the habit of going to see bad pictures as the habit of going to see

Evil Influence on Many.

"It is possible that the pictures which we class as objectionable are not harmful to some theater-goers but there must be many young and impressionable persons on whom they have an evil influence. At least we should establish the same standards of morality in the pictures as we insist upon in our daily lives."

Members of the Committee of Fifty have been severe in their criticism of "crime pictures," in which, in many instances, the methods of commission of crime are shown with great detail and realism and in which the criminal is glorified, or at least portrayed as a likable character who very seldom is punished for his crimes, but most often "wins the girl" or enjoys some other substantial reward for his villainy.

Secretary Billman told of an 8-year-old boy who was taken to the Juvenile Court on a charge of trying to knock the combination knob from a safe with a hammer. The Judge, he said, questioned the boy as to where he got the idea of doing such a thing and the boy replied: "I saw it in the movies."

Censorship in Four States.

The only states which have state censorship boards are Kansas, Maryland, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Louisiana has a law which empowers each city, town and village to appoint a local censorship. The State of New York, with no censorship, regulates the admission of children to moving picture shows. Children under the age of 16 may not go to night performances unless accompanied by adults. On other than school days children between 10 and 16 may go to picture shows unaccompanied, but separate space must be provided for them and the house must employ a matron to watch over them.

New York City also has an ordinance regulating the attendance of children at picture shows.

North Carolina bears one-third of the expense of providing suitable moving picture films for rural communities. The selection of these films in effect amounts to a censorship.

Chicago has a police censorship of moving pictures and recently has forbidden the showing of pictures based on the commission of crime. In Detroit all pictures must be passed upon by the police department before being shown, and in Cleveland the law requires that before a picture is shown the exhibitor must post in front of his theater a conspicuous sign "Full enough to describe in general terms the nature and character of the picture."

National Board of Review.

In New York City there is an organization known as the National Board of Review, which was organized by film manufacturers and producers. It views pictures and places its stamp of approval on them, but has no power to exclude pictures which it rejects.

Of the National Board of Review the Committee of Fifty has this to say in its statement: "It is an instrument of the producers and its review has been proved to be a farce in many cases. It has become in part an engine to right legal censorship. A part of the duties of this so-called National Board seems to be to watch the country and go everywhere when legal censorship is proposed, and then vigorously oppose the plan by asserting their own as sufficient."

The attitude of the National Board of Review is shown in a review pamphlet which it has just issued in reference to a previous pamphlet it says: "One of the four pictures listed last issue as an exceptional photograph has been condemned by censorship. This action of the censors should confirm us in the opinion that the photograph in question was art and was exceptional." The National Board of Review prints as its motto at the top of its pamphlets: "Constructive criticism builds up. Censorship destroys."

Canada, store our wheat in our own co-operative elevators and make the banks finance us through the different periods in the handling of the crop. There are three periods now, the farming, the holding and the handling of the wheat. It only needs co-operation for the farmer to share in all three periods.

"In this period of unrest following the war is beginning a new era in agriculture. Following the Civil War came the growth of manufacturing. After this war comes the reorganization of agriculture. For years now two-thirds of the population has been dependent on one-third. The cities have dominated. Now the country is going to share equally with the cities."

Senator Ladd has vision. There are others, too, but there is danger in vision. The farmers, being in revolt, want to do everything at once. They want to develop the Farm Bureau into an economic machine that would rival the power of the Federal Government. They want to center the will of the whole agricultural crop in a single day. It would be much more successful for each type of farmer to organize apart and go forward slowly as the raisin and prune growers they emulate have done.

Voices Farmers' Protest.

I wish to say just a word about the Nonpartisan League. It is a farmers' organization, but it has been developed largely by the energy of a single man, A. G. Townley. It has, in consequence, made many mistakes, mostly political. But its enemies have not been able to kill it off. As a league it is chiefly important because it expresses the protest. The one seemingly convincing thing about it, to any one, is the way the farmers will unhesitatingly pay the $18 dues it demands. Farmers are not so notably open-handed they would cheerfully hand over $18 if they were not after something the league was working for. It is economic independence.

The league's purpose is the establishing of a new and fairer method of marketing wheat, but where it is at work politically it is always fought on other issues, because it is "socialistic," because "Townley is radical." It was defeated in Minnesota this fall because it was declared to be a movement in favor of free love. It appears some books were found in the North Dakota public school reference library. Promptly its enemies cried down these books and virtuously declared against the "free love movement." In Minnesota its enemies quickly seized upon the party cry.

It is ironic, but it cannot stop the farmers' protest. If Senator Ladd is right, the protest will be organized so effectively that the farmers will all be in industrial unions long before the industrial workers.

UNTERMYER'S REPLY TO PALMER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Replying to statements of Attorney-General Palmer in answer to his demand for a congressional investigation of the office of Alien Property Custodian and the Department of Justice, Samuel Untermyer declared in a statement last night that he could not find "a single assertion that has any foundation in fact."

Untermyer asserted the Attorney-General "ought to be removed from office on his confession alone that he suspended the enforcement of the anti-trust laws during the war."

He said the speech he made Tuesday night "was not an attack on Mr. Palmer personally, but on half of any friend or class of one else. It was directed against gross inefficiency and against the intelligence and political honesty of the administration of two great offices."

Everybody Loves a Winner
And Despises An Imitator

Wherever there are Kroger Stores, French Brand Coffee, because of its continuous uniform quality, is recognized as THE coffee leader. It is a WINNER! In the face of competition and extravagant claims, it holds its own—goes right on winning—and the sale increases year after year.

Imitation is the sincerest flattery, and the fact that French Coffee in the famous Red Bag, in which it has been sold for 16 years, is the most widely imitated coffee in every city, is the best advertisement for its quality.

It is easy to see that these imitations intend to derive profit by deceiving or letting their customers think that their coffee is French Brand. They intend to cash in on the popularity of the genuine French. Of course, these imitations are imitations only in appearance and color of bag—not in quality.

Please remember, therefore, that French is sold only at Kroger Stores, and that any coffee packaged like French, or named the same, is a cheap imitation and an attempt to fool you into believing that it is the genuine.

WOMAN HURT; AUTO SAID TO HAVE STRUCK HER

Bernard P. Bogey, in Machine at Scene at Time, Says He Thought Street Car Hit Her.

The police are looking for the driver of an automobile which ran down and seriously injured Mrs. O. Warren, 47 years old, of 2719 Laclede avenue, at Prairie and Easton avenues at 9 o'clock last night. Mrs. Warren was unconscious when picked up. Her head was cut and she is internally hurt. Mrs. Edith Kelly of 4836 Newberry terrace, who was with Mrs. Warren, told policemen an automobile in which were a man and woman struck Mrs. Warren as she was stepping from the curb to go to a street car. Mrs. Kelly went to the hospital with Mrs. Warren.

When policemen arrived at the corner after the accident they found Bernard P. Bogey, defeated candidate for Congress in the Eleventh District. He was in an automobile and accompanied by a woman. Bogey said he was driving east at the corner when he heard a woman scream and he turned back to aid her. He said he believed the street car had struck her.

FINE OF $20 FOR OPERATION OF PUNCHBOARD IS UPHOLD

Emil Flutsch of 620 Park avenue, owner of a soft-drink establishment at 824 Pine street, who was fined $20 in Police Court, Jan. 5, for operating a punch board and who appealed to the Court of Criminal Correction under the impression that a ruling had been made in that court that punch boards were not illegal, was disillusioned when his case was tried before Judge Hochdoerfer today.

Flutsch admitted that he had permitted a policeman to punch his board, but said it was because he had read in the St. Louis Star that the Court had ruled that punch boards were not illegal.

"That is very unfortunate for you," said Judge Hochdoerfer. "The ruling of this Court is that punch boards are unlawful. The fine will stand."

A woman who was arrested yesterday at Webster Groves for operating a punch board gave the same excuse.

The Star's publication was made recently when Provisional Judge Wiseman had dismissed two punch board cases, without comment. This was construed by the Star as a ruling that punch boards were not illegal.

RAIL MAN DISCUSSES OUTSIDE SHOP DEALS

Vice President of B. & O. Tells Traffic Club Speed in Repair Work Is Big Factor.

The Traffic Club held its annual banquet and installation of officers last night at the Missouri Athletic Association, with 245 of the 650 members present, and the Rev. H. L. Reader and several railroad men as speakers. A. F. Versen, vice president of the Collinsville Zinc Corporation, is the new president, succeeding A. D. Aiken, general agent of the Rock Island.

The construction of railroad equipment in outside shops was discussed by C. W. Galloway, vice president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. "The problem confronting the railroads when they were returned to the owners was no simple one," he said. "There was tremendous traffic and an acute car shortage. It was up to the management to relieve the situation by any means available. Equipment was in bad order, due to the fact that after the signing of the armistice and especially in 1919 a special effort was made by the administration to reduce operating expenses. Wages had been raised without a corresponding increase in rates. The maintenance allowance was not sufficient to keep up the man hours of the operating department after the increase to what they had been before. Speaking for the B. & O. as one railroad, as a result of this policy we fell behind 77,000 tons of rail, the equivalent of 450 miles of track, over our normal replacement in the test period.

Contracts for Outside Work.
"One person in public life has criticized the putting out of equipment in contract shops; once dishonesty has been hinted at, I contracted for 1500 cars to be repaired in outside shops, and I defy anyone to find anything dishonest in the transaction. There was no let-up in the shortage and it was our duty to the public to repair cars as quickly as possible. Two months before the beginning of the traffic slump we had 3500 of these cars in service. Then, too, it was impossible to get our work done in our own shops as satisfactorily as in outside shops. I refer to the 'national agreement' with railroad labor."

Assails "National Agreement."
"We now have 176,000 idle cars, besides 150 idle locomotives. And which are of the heavy Mallet type, contracted for last summer, and 50 of the Mikado type, worth $4,000,000. Altogether the idle cars and locomotives represent an investment of $10,000,000."

"If we had not taken all possible steps to alleviate the shortage we would have been criticized. As it is, we are criticized anyway. It is a case of 'be damned if you do and be damned if you don't.'"

"The troublesome factor to which I alluded before, the 'National Agreement,' creates many difficulties for the railroads. For instance, it used to be that if a mechanic found a lubricator in need of repair, he would do the work himself. Now he has to call in a pipefitter and stand by while he does it. We are going to have that out before the Labor Board. Railway Boards of Adjustment have done some things that the public does not like, but this Labor Board, one of the good provisions of the Transportation Act of 1920, can be counted on to do the right thing."

"St. Louis Gateway to West."
Versen, who presided, introducing J. R. Koontz, assistant freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe, said that St. Louis has always been the gateway to the West, once as the head of the old Santa Fe trail, and expressed a hope that the Santa Fe rails would soon lead into the West from St. Louis.

Koontz made no reply to this in his talk, but afterward said that no move had been made to reopen the project of building a short line from Carrollton to Mexico, Mo., and coming into St. Louis over the Burlington tracks from that point. This was initiated late in 1916, but was given up on account of the war.

He urged the co-operation of manufacturer, distributor and consumer in ending the present chaotic situation.

Reference to Readjustment.
"If the retailer cannot sell his wares," he said, "it goes without saying that he is not going to purchase. If the retailer does not purchase, it goes without saying that the wholesaler is not going to sell. If the wholesaler does not sell, he is not going to purchase. If the wholesaler does not purchase, the manufacturer is not going to sell. If the manufacturer does not sell, he is not going to produce, and that follows, as it will, then it means the cessation of industrial activity, the closing of the plant and the letting out of the employees. At this particular moment are advised that there are 2,600,000 able-bodied American men, actively employed nine months ago, out of employment."

"Do you think you haven't a mission to perform? Do you believe that you should go to your office in the morning, take a hurried lunch and go home at night and not attempt to create and mold some sentiment, which, if working properly, might indicate to someone, and in turn to many others, that probably we had better work to the end of helping to bring about the readjustment, not through the channel of bankruptcy, but through the channel of gradual decline, sharing a part of the burden all along the line, and in the end reaching the industrial harbor without much wear and tear on the ship which is to carry us?"

Urges War-Time Co-Operation.
George T. Atkins, freight traffic manager of the M. & T. Railroad, asked that the shippers continue to work with the carriers as they did in war-time last year, when this alone, he said, made possible the handling of the immense volume of traffic.

"An average increase of one ton in the amount loaded in each car," he declared, "is equivalent to adding 75,000 cars to the supply of the United States. In the six months ending with August, 1918, shippers in this manner added to the carrying capacity of the railroads 105,000 cars. Prompter loading and unloading of cars conserved terminal facilities to an extent estimated as equal to the saving of 200,000 cars. Altogether the carrying capacity of 205,000 cars was thus added to our resources. At an average cost of $2000 a car, which is perhaps too conservative an estimate, that was a saving of $610,000,000. Taking that as an investment, the interest on it at 5 per cent would be $26,000,000. This saving was possible because the shippers and the railroads made every effort to use transportation facilities without waste."

WATER SPOUT AT SANTA BARBARA

Several buildings on the Ocean Front Unroofed.
By the Associated Press.
SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Jan. 21.—A waterspout came in from the ocean here late yesterday and unroofed a number of buildings before its force was spent.

A large section of the roofing was torn off a lumber shed at the water front and was dropped intact across a boulevard more than 100 feet distant. Another section of the same roof was dropped in a wood and coal yard farther away. A large square of iron roofing from another building was found in a tree three blocks distant.

SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES TO BE NAMED BY PETITION

League of Women Voters Will Ask Citizens for Suggestions and Choose Five
From List to Support.

The method to be pursued by the League of Women Voters in the selection of candidates for the Board of Education at the primary next month will be to call upon citizens for suggestion of candidates from which will be selected five candidates who will be supported by the league.

This action was decided on at a meeting of the City Central Committee, composed of precinct captains and ward chairmen, at a meeting yesterday afternoon at Hotel Statler. The Executive Committee of the City Central Committee will meet at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Wednesday Club to take the first steps in accordance with this plan.

The committee reiterated the fixed policy of the league to remove from partisan political control the administration of justice, education and health, and not to endorse candidates for other branches of the Government.

The league is opposed to the convention method of selecting candidates for public office, and the petition method to choose candidates for the Board of Education was agreed upon as the most democratic and effective from the viewpoint of the league's policies.

200 Must Indorse Candidates.
A date will be set by the executive board on which the league will receive suggestions for places on the School Board. Each prospective candidate submitted must have the indorsement of 200 names of voters on the petition. The person submitting the petition must swear to the authenticity of the petitioners, and the league will pledge itself to make an impartial investigation into the qualifications of the candidate suggested.

From the list of candidates submitted, the 20 having the most supporters will be selected and the others eliminated. The names of the 20 then will be submitted to the women's organizations comprising the City Central Committee, and also given by request to any men's or women's organization that has been in existence for a year for the selection of five from the 20.

Five to Be Recommended.
Accountants will take charge of the final count and the five who receive the most support will be recommended as candidates for the Board of Education, with the indorsement of the League of Women Voters and all other women's organizations in the City Central Committee, while the remaining 15 will be eliminated.

All organizations that participate in the process of elimination will be expected to throw their full support to the five candidates receiving the most votes in the final count.

The women most talked of as being favored by most of the women's organizations for places on the School Board are Mrs. B. F. Bush, Republican; Mrs. Elias Michael, Republican; and Mrs. Norman Windsor, Democrat. They received the most votes at the recent convention of women at the Wednesday Club.

FORISTEL AMONG ST. LOUISANS WHO CONFER WITH GOV. HYDE

Executive Says He Probably Will Not Name Police Board Until Middle of Next Week.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 21.—Conference yesterday by Gov. Hyde with several groups of St. Louis politicians did not bring the Governor much nearer to a decision as to whom he will name Police Commissioners in St. Louis, he said last night. He indicated that the appointments probably would not be announced before the middle of next week.

Among the Governor's callers yesterday were Edward W. Foristel, Chairman Strodtmann of the Republican City Committee; Joseph B. Thomas, George Hohmann and Louis Becker, members of the committee, and former Mayor Kreismann.

The Governor said that every name that had been presented to him for consideration for the Police Board was submitted to the St. Louisans, that any objections they might have to offer could be presented. He admitted there were objections to some, but said he had at least a dozen from whom to select, all apparently satisfactory to everyone concerned. He refused to discuss the names of any individuals.

He said he expected to have other conferences on the St. Louis appointments, that he had not reached any conclusion in his own mind and that any reports regarding the probable selections would not possibly be other than mere guesses.

TWO CLASSES IN LIP-READING

The only fee is $2 for admission to the league. The next meeting of the organization, to which all interested persons are invited, is announced to take place at 7:30 tonight at Central High School.

AGREEMENT AUTO TAX WILL PAY ROAD BONDS INTEREST

Lawyers Express View at Conference With Attorney-General, and Barrett Is Expected to So Tell Senate.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 21.—Attorneys representing the Federated Roads Council, and other lawyers interested in road legislation, in a conference yesterday afternoon with Attorney-General Barrett, agreed that interest on the proposed $60,000,000 of hard surface road bonds, which the Legislature was authorized in the last election to issue, can be paid from automobile license fees collected by the State and that no direct taxation is necessary to pay the interest.

As a result of the conference it is understood that the Attorney-General's opinion on the subject, requested in a Senate resolution, will be to that effect. The opinion will be sent to the Senate within the next 48 days.

Senator McCullough had introduced a resolution asking the Attorney-General for an opinion. Barrett suggested the conference of lawyers who had made a particular study of the amendment, and in addition to himself and Senator McCullough there were present at the conference W. T. Rutherford, who wrote the constitutional amendment; Maj. Roy F. Britton, a member of the State Highway Board; Edward W. Foristel and John M. Atkinson, the latter four representing the Federated Roads Council.

Basics of Agreement.

The agreement reached was that the amendment provided that the automobile license fund was to be used to pay the principal of the bonds and that any money remaining in the fund after the amount necessary for the sinking fund for the principal was set aside, could be used to pay the interest. Continuing on this line, they agreed that the State fund commission could limit the amount of bonds issued and outstanding at one time to an amount for which both the principal requirements and the sinking fund could be provided from the automobile license fees; in other words, that it will be within the power of the State administration to prevent any direct taxation to meet the interest on the bonds. One of the attorneys said there would be no question that the bonds would be so limited, as no administration would be willing to shoulder the responsibility for direct taxation after the promises which were made in the campaign.

It was explained at the conference that even if the Legislature should provide for the issuance of the full $60,000,000 of bonds, the State fund commission would have power to refuse to issue the full amount.

Farmers for Distribution.

Opposition to the use of the $60,000,000 in a State-wide system of permanent hard roads developed last night in the submission to members of the Legislature at a dinner given at the Madison Hotel by the Missouri Farmers' Association of recommendations regarding road legislation. The association, which professes a membership of 60,000 farmers in Missouri, advocated a distribution of the fund between the several counties of the State.

The organization opposed the issuance of the bonds until assurance shall be given that the fund will be distributed and until a plan of distribution has been agreed upon.

The recommendations were in the form of a petition, presented in the name of the executive board of the Missouri Farmers' Association, which has been in session in Jefferson City several days. The portion of the petition regarding roads was: "1. We ask that if the Attorney-General should hold that the automobile license fees will not include the payment of the interest on said bonds, as was directly represented during the campaign for the said amendment, that the whole matter be referred back to the people two years hence.

Reference to Campaign Pledge.

"2. In the event that the Attorney-General should hold that the automobile license fees do include the payment of such interest, then we ask that the campaign pledge of an equitable distribution of the $60,000,000 between the several counties be strictly adhered to by the Assembly, and that no bonds be issued until such assurance has been given to the people and a plan of such equitable distribution agreed upon.

"3. We ask that the Governor be authorized to appoint a commission of not to exceed five men, such commission to be empowered to employ a capable engineer and with the aid of such engineer to make a comprehensive investigation of the road building experiences of and practices of other states to the end that the best funds may be as intelligently applied as possible. Also, we ask that the said commission shall work out a tentative plan of an equitable distribution of the $60,000,000 between the several counties and then submit such plan to a special session of the Assembly. Also, when such plan of distribution shall meet with the approval of the General Assembly, then we ask that the road construction under this act be turned over to the said commission under such general terms as the Assembly may see fit to prescribe."

Billy Brady Threatens Appeal to Law in Dempsey-Carpentier Wrangle.

DECLARES HE'S THROUGH

But Says He'll Resist, if Bob Edgren Rules That Contract Is Still Valid.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Mister Finigan of "off-agin, on-agin" fame, sits tight in the matter of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout. Billy Brady says he and Cochran are officially and definitely out of the fight, and the principals may as well be at the end of the world. In the end, a few furious rounds with the law may be promoted, Brady, who declared himself and C. B. Cochran, his London partner, out of it because the boxers had failed to live up to the letter of the contract by neglecting to post their forfeit, was just as firm in his stand yesterday as he had been on Wednesday.

"Richard says that contracts have not been violated," began Brady, as he paced up and down his office in the Play House Building. "Richard says they're not violated. The repeat, with emphasis. 'The bank doesn't say so,' snapped Brady, as he held up a printed statement from the Central Trust Co. which declared that Dempsey and Carpentier had failed to make any deposits with the concern.

"Now, that's an official statement from the bank in which the money was to be placed. I'm ready to let Mr. Edgren, the final arbiter in our case, decide whether the contract has been lived up to or not. If he says they have, I'll take Mr. Edgren and the rest of them to court."

"Richard Can Go It Alone.—Brady. 'I'm not haggling over technicalities, but let me tell you something. The Dempsey-Carpentier bout as we outlined it is not a crap game. It's the biggest sporting event the world has ever known. This involves a risk of three-quarters of a million dollars. It's a great, big business deal and certainly one of the biggest things I've ever concerned in. Therefore, I can't get this playing machine attitude. After all, nobody is hurt."

Agrostologists Coming To Cure The Country Club Golf Course

Grass Doctors From the Department of Agriculture Volunteer to Treat U. S. Championship Tourney Links for Summer Sickness—Event Scheduled for September.

By John E. Wray.

THE agrostologists are coming, men. They are due in St. Louis some time this summer, but don't let their invasion alarm you. Because, after all, an agrostologist is human, although you might not think so to watch him work.

If you catch one of our best agrostologists on the job you might mistake him, so we will warn you in advance now. If you see a man bent over a golf green peering into the grass roots, button, forget it. He may be normal, and probably he's only an agrostologist. If you see a man scooping up dirt from the fairways and looking it up in his pocket book, don't look around for his keeper—it's probably an agrostologist. If you happen to be at the Country Club links this summer you may be in a position to appreciate this advice, because the Price road course will be visited by agrostologists. It is an agrostologist's mission to see that the green grass is growing all around, all the time, even on St. Louis golf courses, when the August sun is shining—and thereby hange our Agrostic Complexion Changes.

It appears that the St. Louis grass is troubled with a summer complaint about August. Its complexion fades from its usual vivid green to a shade like the taste of a pre-Volstead hangover. This is unfortunate, with respect to the Country Club, which has just been awarded the National Amateur Golf Championship Tournament to be played next September.

It is necessary for the tournament that the grass on the greens and on certain portions of the fairway be very lush and healthy about the time the tournament rolls around, or some of the title players are apt to develop surprising variations of vocabulary not to be found in our standard dictionaries.

The circumstance as to our annual grass trouble is a subject which interested two experts connected therewith, Messrs. Stanley E. Piper and Russell A. Oakley, as to cause them to communicate with the United States Golf Association and to offer their services in an attempt to cure the mid-summer madness of our St. Louis blue grass.

Stuart G. Stickney, of the Country Club, has accepted the offer of the two Washington experts and the course will be officially agrostologized during the latter part of July or August in the best possible agronomical condition.

The visit of the grass experts will, according to Mr. Stickney, be likely to prove of great interest to the entire district, as all of the local agrostologists will be present.

An effort will be made to get together representatives of the St. Louis districts and devise plans for building up the game and for exchanging ideas on the upkeep of courses.

The club has the very latest thing in grass cutters, which enables them to mow the entire course in a single day, where formerly it took five horses and two men three days. The new machine draws a series of five cutters, which shear a swath 15 feet wide.

Four of the nine sets were played Wednesday. Gould won 3 of them and needs only two more to retain the title, while the challenger must win four to become the champion.

$75,000 OFFER FOR LEONARD-TENDLER GO. BALTIMORE, Jan. 21.—Al Herford, boxing promoter, today announced that his club had wired an offer of $75,000 to Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler for a 15-round championship bout to take place in Baltimore.

Donna Defeats Allied. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 21.—Ash-ton Donna, the former amateur champion, gave DeWitt Allied of Birmingham a neat boxing lesson here last night in the fastest round ever seen in this city. Donna departed last night for St. Louis, where he will fight Freddie Kaiser next Monday.

Dartmouth Beats Yale. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 21.—Dartmouth defeated Yale, 22 to 16, in an intercollegiate league basketball game here last night.

Pikeway-Drake Basket Battle Is Feature, Tonight

High School League Teams Will Play Their Regular Double-Header, Also.

High school and collegiate athletes will carry their activities to the majority of local basketball courts this evening. With Washington and St. Louis universities, Concordia Seminary and the scholastic quintets all in action, the 1921 court season may be said to be officially "on" locally.

The most important game on the evening's card is that between Washington and Drake University of Des Moines, which serves as the first all-home appearance of the Pikeaway five in intercollegiate competition. The teams will play again tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

These two quintets are generally accepted as the weaker ones in the Missouri Valley Conference, and seem to be on about a par. Drake has not won a basketball game from Washington in three years, but the hilltoppers are in a bad condition at present, and Sprong's outfit may turn the tide.

Loss of Hurd a Severe Blow. The loss of Hurd, the star forward of the local team, seems to be an irreparable loss. Last week Hurd was replaced by Gaylord, but that athlete suffered an injured ankle several days ago and may not be able to get into the game. If such is the case, Linnemeyer will pair off with Tom Thompson.

The rest of the team will line up as it did in the Missouri holocausts, last week. Thumser will jump at center, with Capt. Krause and Lefler, the guards.

Concordia Plays Alton. Concordia will play the Union fire of Alton at Holy Cross Hall, 830 Ohio avenue. The Union team is composed of erstwhile college and high school stars who live in or near Alton. Last year it was one of the strongest independent teams in Illinois.

Concordia will be one substitution in the Concordia lineup. Jungmann, a guard, is on the injured list and will turn over his duties to E. Melchner. Concordia is expected to be a regular place all season. Capt. Mappes and Beck will play the forward positions, with Capt. Lefler, center, and Schmidt, the guard.

All-Stars Face Billikens. Another group of Alton athletes will call at College Hall, Grand near Ladue avenue, to meet the St. Louis University quintet. The callers are known as the Alton All-Stars, but in which good players' first and second year men. The Billikens beat the "Y" club two weeks ago.

Other Collegiate Contests. Other collegiate contests of interest to local court followers are the three Missouri Valley Conference games which will be played here, where it is expected to defeat the Oklahoma Sooners and average the football league and basketball. Billikens should have no difficulty with Grinnell, and the Kansas Aggies is easily favored over Ames.

Souldan Favored, Tonight. The more important contest of tonight's High School League double-header brings together Yeatman and Cleveland teams in a contest on Souldan's heels for the league leadership and has showed improved form in the past. Souldan's record is in third place, but its only reverses have come by the slightest margin, the North End team forcing Souldan into extra periods before being defeated.

Souldan and Central furnished the other attraction. Souldan is of course picked to retain its clean record, but updates and surprises have come so frequently in the "prep" play this year, that the followers are shocked to find that the first game will be started at 8 p. m.

Missouri Farmers to Urge 10-Year Closed Quail Hunting Season

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 21.

MISSOURI sportsmen who desire to hunt quail can find cause for alarm for their sport in the future. A farmers' association, considerably interested with State Legislators, met last night at the State Capitol in the agricultural department, to discuss legislative matters. Rural schools occupied the closed quail season on quails brought out much praise and comment.

Upon invitation, E. T. Gresham of St. Louis spoke in opposition to the proposed law. The meeting adjourned without taking any action on the closed quail season. The Missouri quail hunters of Missouri may just as well begin to realize that they will have to exert their influence to defeat these unreasonable quail laws, which are already being discussed, though the bill for this purpose has not been introduced.

The manager of the local National League's Cardinals that these games will be of more good than ill to the team's pickup aggregations.

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

But the pines down there were smaller and not so black and proud, and he had been wild with excitement, for, of course, he was winning, he always won, and he knew the men would crowd about him later and talk about him in loud voices, while he pretended not to hear what they said.

There had been so many people that day. Here there were so few. His master and mistress and Mr. Parmelee and the cook man. That was all and millions of pines. Dumb-Bell shivered and watched them through the window, his head between his paws.

They called this place the Happy Hunting Ground; but Dumb-Bell was not happy as he sat there, although he had hunted every day since they came.

Of course, it was not in the least like quail hunting—nothing was like that! You went as far as you could when you hunted quail, and you the country for miles and miles. It was glorious!

But they wouldn't let him do that any more, these new birds were interesting. You must go very quietly, and at the first faint scent slow a walk and then to a creep and then to a crawl, until something told you you could go no farther.

Dumb-Bell had flushed two grouse that first day before he had understood how they would burst out of the cover and roar off when he was so close away. His master had said "Careful!"

He, reproachfully, and Dumb-Bell had grinned at his own memory of remorse. And that no more birds were flushed. He just crept about and found them in every direction, while his master and Mr. Parmelee shot, and his mistress called him silly names and even hugged him, now and then, when he came back with the dead bird unruined by his mouth.

He had disapproved of this hugging business. He was hunting, and even though he went slowly and was still, for some reason, when night came he was still Champion Brookfield Dumb-Bell at his work, and not a "precious lamb."

This was the dawn of their last day in the Happy Hunting Ground. Some of the things were packed already. The wagons would come tomorrow; and Dumb-Bell was glad.

His mistress stayed at the cabin that day to finish packing, and he and his master and Mr. Parmelee started out. As they were leaving, his mistress gave him a hug and felt him shiver, as though he was cold.

But his master said: "He'll warm up when he gets to moving. Won't you come, old snooter?"

Dumb-Bell grinned and galloped off to a small thicket. He skirted it with care, to show that he was ready. . . . It was much better to hunt and forget the pines. He did forget them all morning long.

They ate lunch in a small clearing where the low gray sky seemed to rest on the tops of the pine trees. Dumb-Bell ate his two sandwiches slowly, and stared at it.

There was something about the sky he did not like. As he watched it the shivers came back, and he was glad when lunch was over and he could go to work again.

Late in the afternoon, although he was working as hard as he could, he began to shiver worse than ever, and suddenly he knew. . . .

It was not the pines that had made him shiver. It was something else. It was something that was coming. It would be here soon now. It had been coming all night. The pines had been telling him. Why, perhaps they were not so proud, so aloof, as they had seemed! Perhaps they really cared, like the friendly trees at Brookfield.

The thing that was coming was in the sky. In the gray sky that was growing dark now—and the pines were beginning to talk about it again.

Dumb-Bell stopped hunting, and stared into the north. As he stared his eyes changed, his soft, kindly, setter eyes. They filled with green lights. Those from which he sprang, centuries and centuries before, had fled and died before this thing, coming out of the north, and the sleeping wolf within him was awake and was afraid.

"Getting pretty dark, isn't it?" said the master of Brookfield. "Let's hunt this place out and break for camp. We're going to have a storm, I think. Dumb-Bell! Go on, old man!"

At the words Dumb-Bell turned. Rebellion was in his heart. He would not go on. He would put his tail between his legs and run. He would run to where the stove was that ate the wood.

This tall man who said "Go on," who was he? Dumb-Bell looked at him wildly, and their eyes met. . . . Dumb-Bell grinned, whined and started to run for the stove and safety. He went carefully toward a distant brush heap. There might be a grouse in there, and the tall man, his man, in the old tan shooting coat, which he had slipped on so many times, had ordered him to find it.

Yes, there was a grouse in the brush heap. Dumb-Bell slowed to a creep and then to a crawl, until something told him he could go no farther. Then he stopped, his eyes no longer green and shining. They were warm, faithful, eager—the eyes of Champion Brookfield Dumb-Bell on point.

And then, with one last walling shriek from the pines, the things that had been coming, that had made him shiver so, was there. Dumb-Bell did not move. His fear, the fear of slinking ancestors, was gone. What if there was a roar that deafened him! What if it was as dark as night! What if he could scarcely breathe for the smothering ice particles that stung his muzzle and filled his eyes and his nostrils! The years had thinned his blood and stiffened his limbs, but his nose, which was his soul, they could not touch. It was the nose of a champion still, and wind and dark and snow could not prevail against it—there was a grouse in the brush heap.

A blizzard was a terrible thing. The pines had groaned all night about it. It was here now, roaring and biting, all but lifting him off his feet. Still—there was a grouse in the brush heap. You couldn't change that.

The wind was the worst. It was so hard to hold himself erect, and he must do that, whatever happened. He was on point, and champions pointed with a high head and level tail.

If he moved, the grouse would flush, and he never flushed birds. Why, long ago, when he was a tiny puppy and they called him the runt and were ashamed of him, he never flushed birds.

He had pointed sparrows when they kept him alone day after day in the runway. Of course, one knew he was pointing and no one came to flush the sparrows. They would hop about in the runway for a long time—so long that his legs would begin to tremble and his back would ache, and someone should have come—but no one ever did.

It was like that now, only worse. The wind was so cold. The winds were all much colder, lately. This one seemed to cut right into his chest as he held his head high against it. His hind legs were going back on him, too. They were beginning to let him down a little. He must straighten up somehow.

Why didn't they come? He was so cold, so very cold. If he could change his position it would help his legs. They felt numb and queer. He felt queer all over. But there was a grouse in the brush heap. They would come and flush it soon, now.

They had better hurry. He could not hold his head up much longer. It was not the wind, the wind was growing warmer, almost like summer, but he was sleepy. That was queer. He had never felt sleepy on point before. But then he had worked hard today and he had not slept well last night because of the shivers. He would sleep better tonight, much better. Why, he could go to sleep this minute. The wind wouldn't hurt him. The wind was his friend. It had blown the snow all over him, and it was nice, warm snow. It packed itself under his chest. He could even rest a little weight on it and help his legs.

But they were gone, his legs. Back to Brookfield, perhaps. He must go, too, back to Brookfield. It was bright and cheerful there. And always there were sounds that he knew, nice sounds—not like the pines and the loons.

He would come to the big gates first and then he would leave the drive and cut across the lawn toward the lights of the house shining through the trees. He would scratch on the front door and someone would let him in, and Peter would be glad to see him, and so would his chair, his own chair, near the fire. And then—but there was a grouse in the brush heap! He had almost forgotten. . . . No, he couldn't leave just now. He must stay a little longer, alone in the dark, in the nice warm snow.

The snow was getting higher about him all the time. Perhaps it would cover him up after a while. He was not very big. . . . He had never flushed birds, though, even then. And now, although his master called him old snooter, he was Champion Brookfield Dumb-Bell, with his picture in the papers, and there was a grouse in the brush heap! A grouse—in the brush-heap. . . .

The mistress of Brookfield raised her gun. "All ready, Tom," she said.

The cook put his shoulder to the door and let it swing open a scant foot. There was a whistling shriek, the room was filled with a vortex of snow, both lamps went out, and the cook threw his weight against the door until the latch clicked in its socket. It was done in five seconds, practice had made him perfect; but a tongue of flame had leaped out of the door as the 12-gauge spoke in an abrupt yelp that just managed to rise above the voice of the storm.

American Girls Have World's Best Figures

WANT TO KNOW THE REASON?

Rate for Athletics, Developed in Recent Years, Has Broadened Shoulders, Increased Height, and Improved Health, Says Experts.

By FAY STEVENSON

ARE American women getting taller?

Is the slender, willowy, spindle-shaped female, whom we have seen pictured between Dame Fashion's columns, gradually dying out? Shall we find a taller, heavier-set girl of the future, a well-set head and a body which boasts of flesh and muscle rather than mere feminine delicacies?

"We shall," says Prof. R. T. McKenney, director of physical education at the University of Pennsylvania.

"Women of today and of the future are to be much stronger, heavier set and taller. Plenty of exercise, interest in basketball, tennis and gymnasium work is responsible for this change."

Not only does one see a number of tall women; in fact, many taller men, on the street cars, in the avenue, and even upon the stage.

And it is always the young women, the woman who has been to school within the last five or ten years, who is tallest. Hence, Prof. McKenney's statement.

Prof. McKenney readily admitted that women are becoming heavier, but he did not agree with Prof. McKenney's statement that these women are getting taller.

"The athletic woman is heavy-set and boasts of good, broad shoulders," said Prof. Hathaway. "I have noticed that the present-day girl has a much heavier frame than the little girl of, say, 10 years back."

As to her getting taller, he has a little theory of his own about it.

"What an impression which the average woman is trying to create. Really, her height in many cases goes to high heels and high hats, to the height of the way they pile their hair in high, fantastic knots."

"After all," continued Prof. Hathaway, "outdoor exercise could not be expected to change a girl's height, but, of course, plenty of exercise will broaden her chest, develop her arms and the delicate spindle limb of her mother and aunts were so good, naturally, but much better developed."

Prof. Hathaway also believes that the women of England are much heavier and broader about the shoulders.

"While touring Europe last year," he said, "I was under the impression that the English woman is much heavier set than her American sister. I accounted for this on the ground that she has led an outdoor, athletic life for a longer time than the American girl."

"I also noticed," laughed the professor, "that 'vamps,' as they are called in England, are conspicuously absent in England. The girls there have too much fun in the sun and the breeze to do up and parade in the latest styles. A tennis racket or a golf stick is far more attractive to them than the latest style vells or a lipstick."

Francis P. Wall, assistant director of athletics at the same university, also admits that the American girl is getting heavier. In fact, he thinks she is also taller, considering heels are still everything.

"There has been an increase of at least 50 per cent in the number of women engaged in outdoor sports within the last five years," said Mr. Wall. "This means heavier girls and even taller ones. Long hikes, camp life, hockey, regular gymnasium work, have brought about these changes."

Coach Emil von Eilling of the New York University track team, an enthusiast on outdoor sports, said when asked to comment on Prof. McKenney's statement:

"I believe that since women are taking more exercise and going in for so much athletic training they are becoming more perfectly developed. American girls do not engage in such arduous labor as women in foreign countries, and this, I think, has a great deal to do with their excellent figures. The American girl walks and takes a more or less prescribed course of exercise. From my own observations, I believe that the American girl has the finest figure of any girl in the world."

Therefore, Miss 1921, make yourself, as tall as you can, broaden out your shoulders and eat as much as you like so that you will fall in with Prof. McKenney's description.

It is much easier to live up to a description like that than to assume narrow, sloping shoulders and the debatable slouch, to say nothing of the "lead pencil" slimness.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

WHEN making soups try cutting the potatoes in small pieces instead of slicing them, and they won't cook "all to pieces." When lamb chops get nearly used up pin on a piece of flannel cloth long enough to reach the bottom of lamp.

Put on your rubbers when you mop floors. It saves shoes and sometimes a fall.

White oilcloth is a nice protector of baby's bassinet and is cheaper than rubber sheeting.

A clean toothpick is the best thing for testing cakes.

When gloves are old rims sewed pull out easily. Try using court plaster instead. Turn gloves wrong side out, hold edges close together and paste a narrow strip of court plaster over them.

YOUR BABY

BABY'S CLOTHING (Continued).

BANDS—Three flannel abdominal bands made of soft, white unhemmed flannel, five or six inches wide and from 14 to 15 inches long. They should be wide enough to protect the abdomen and not wide enough to wrinkle. They should go once and a half around the baby's abdomen, lap across the front and pin at the side. After the cord is healed these may be replaced by three knitted abdominal bands with shoulder straps and a tab to pin to the diaper. These should be made the lower part of wool and the upper part of cotton. This kind of band for the baby should be around the baby's chest and make him uncomfortable. The band may be discarded altogether in hot weather.

SHIRTS—Three shirts, wool and cotton, or silk and wool, never all-cotton or silk shirt may be worn. The shirts should be fitted smoothly. They may either lap or button in front.

STOCKINGS—Three pairs of booties; three pairs of marino or cashmere stockings if the weather is cold. BLANKETS—Three blankets of closely knitted or crocheted wool, or made from an old soft woolen blanket.

DIAPERS—Four dozen diapers, two dozen 24-inch, two dozen 30-inch are convenient. For the first few weeks, provided it is not hot, soft knitted wear are very convenient. Several dozen pieces of old sheeting torn into pieces 10 inches square may be put inside.

When diapers are removed they should be put into a covered pail of cold water to which borax has been added. Later they should be washed clean with a pure soap, boiled, rinsed thoroughly, but not blueed, and hung in the sun to dry. Soap and bluing are very irritating to a baby's skin. They should be folded, pressed with a hot iron and put away. A soiled or wet diaper should never be used a second time without washing.

The urine contains substances which are very irritating to the skin of a baby and he may be made very sore.

JACKETS—For cool mornings baby needs three short jackets. These are made of white flannel over the kimono elastic pattern, or they may be knitted or crocheted with close stitches. There should be no loose stitches or scallops or other trimming to catch on buttons or the baby's fingers.

OUT-OF-DOOR GARMENTS—The healthy baby is taken out of doors, so he must have a wrap and hood. This wrap is made like the sleeping bag except that it is of white elderdown or flannel. It may be sewed together or bound around with ribbon. At 4 months, the upper corners may be opened so as to allow the baby to get its head out freely. When baby begins to walk, a very comfortable coat may be made from the bag. Open it and hem at the bottom, shape the top loosely by a kimono slip pattern.

For winter, the hood may be made of the same material as the wrap, or it may be knitted or crocheted. For summer a silk or cotton knitted or crocheted hood of an open lace pattern and lined with the very thin,

IS THIS YOUR TYPE? THE CREOLE TYPE.

By MARIE LA ROQUE

THE word CREOLE has been used to mean various sorts of things, but when you read of the Creole type of beauty you are safe to assume that the author has in mind that beauty characteristic of the most charming of the women of Spanish ancestry living in one of the colonies of the Western Hemisphere, though properly it may be applied to those of Portuguese or French stock.

Josephine, the first wife of Napoleon Bonaparte, is perhaps the best known of all Creoles, and sometimes those who read that she was a Creole imagine that this means that a strain of negro blood coursed through her veins. But this is far from the fact. It is only within recent times in our own country, and then erroneously, that Creole has been used to indicate this type of person.

It is the Frenchman who seems most ardently to admire the Creole type of woman. He speaks of her as "la belle Creole," a Corsican, to be sure, but he fell a victim to the charms of Josephine, although she was six years older than he. "Her charm lay in her general appearance," says one of her biographers, "in the graceful movements peculiar to Creole women, and in an air of indifference always possessed by ladies who are not endowed with much heart."

Now, although Josephine is here described as having fair hair, she was certainly not very fair and does not appear so in most of her portraits. Fair hair is not a characteristic of the Creole type, but rather what is described as brown or black, blue-black or purple-black.

It is as a pronounced brunette that Gustave Flaubert describes Madame Arnoux, his celebrated Creole character. "Her black tresses, twining around the edges of her large brows, descended very low and seemed amorously to press the oval of her face—never before had he seen more lustrous dark skin, a more seductive figure, or more delicately shaped fingers than those through which the sunlight gleamed. He assumed that she must be of Andalusian descent, perhaps a Creole."

Of course Balzac has something to say about Creole beauty. His Madame Evrard is "a Marriage Settlement," he speaks of her as being of the Creole type—Madame Evrard with the beauty of a great sunset, which in summer crowns the close of a cloudless day."

"She had black eyes and hair," he says, following the traditional notion of Creoles, "the foot and figure of a Spaniard—the slender serpentine figure for which the Spaniards have a name. Her face still beautiful, had the fascinating Creole complexion, which can only be described by comparing it with white muslin over warm blood color, so equally tinted in its fairness. Her form was round and attractive for the grace which combines the ease of indolence with vivacity, strength and extreme freedom. She was attractive, but imposing, she fascinated, but made no promises. Being tall she could at will assume the part and dignity of a queen."

STUFFED CABBAGE

REMOVE the outside green leaves from a head of cabbage and separate, with the fingers, the other leaves as much as possible without breaking the leaves. Grind a large cupful of any cold meat, season well with buttered bread crumbs, onions, green pepper, salt and pepper. Add enough cream to make it stick together. Stuff this mixture between the leaves of cabbage. Tie it up well. Put three tablespoons of butter in a saucepan that has a closely fitting cover; put the cabbage in this and cover well. Do not add any water. Put on the back of the stove or over a low gas flame and simmer very slowly till done. It should take about two hours.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By Thornton W. Burgess

SAMMY JAY KEEPS WATCH.

SAMMY JAY was awake as usual at break of day the next morning and was the first man to get breakfast at the Woodpecker. Farmer Brown's boy had placed in the paper on the edge of the Old Orchard. Just as he finished Tommy Titt the Chickadee arrived. As usual, Tommy was bubbling over with high spirits and could hardly keep his tongue still long enough to eat. Then he came to the Woodpecker. He had little to say, but strictly attended to the business of filling his stomach.

Yank Yank the Nutcracker arrived a few minutes later and politely waited for Drummer to finish his breakfast before taking his turn at that fine suit. When Yank Yank had finished, Seep Seep the Brown Creeper took his place. Sammy Jay silently watched the breakfast was over. Then he asked: "Has anyone seen Whitley the Snowy Owl, that big white robber from the Far North, lately?"

A little shiver ran over all the little people at mention of Whitley, and the happiness which full stomachs had made gave way to a worried look in the eyes of each.

"I saw him yesterday," replied Tommy Titt. "In fact he so nearly caught me that I didn't get over it all the rest of the day. I can take care of myself when I can see danger, but when what looks like a lump of snow suddenly comes and gets me, it is a fellow that gets me so shaky and nervous that there is no pleasure in life. If he stays around here for the rest of the winter, I guess I shall have to move away."

"The same here," said Drummer the Woodpecker. "I can't stand many more such days as I have just spent. What with the snow and ice winter is hard enough at best. I wouldn't mind so much that fall, but now it is a fellow that gets me so shaky and nervous that there is no pleasure in life. If he stays around here for the rest of the winter, I guess I shall have to move away."

"There is," replied Sammy Jay. "Who?" demanded Drummer the Woodpecker and Tommy Titt the Chickadee and Yank Yank the Nutcracker and Seep Seep the Brown Creeper together.

Sammy looked mysterious. "Someone," said he. "I've come over here very important as he said this. The other teased and teased Sammy to tell them who it was, but Sammy wouldn't. Finally he gave up and flew away to the Green Forest, where they could keep hidden, for in the bare branches of the apple trees they did not feel safe; there was no telling when Whitley might come that way."

Sammy Jay flew over to the big cedar tree in Farmer Brown's dooryard and hid there, where he could see out and watch all that went on. He saw Farmer Brown's boy come out and feed the hens. He fed them in the henyard and stayed right there while they ate. Then he drove them back into the henhouse and shut the door. Sammy understood. Farmer Brown's boy hadn't forgotten that recent visit from Whitley the Snowy Owl and didn't intend to take any chances.

Then Farmer Brown's boy went back to the house to get his breakfast, and for a while nothing happened. It was dull work waiting there in that cedar tree. But Sammy was patient. If the plan he and

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

AN OPEN WINTER.

Throughout my youth, I often used to wonder
What made the feathered choristers appear Before the snows were gone, and how in thunder
The little rascals knew that Spring was near.
The flowers—not the blossoms of the florist—
Though locked in Winter's grip was all the land,
Would thrust their little heads up in the forest
With prescience that I could not understand.

In vain I asked my elders for the reason;
They either had to say they didn't know
Or lamely told me that the springlike season,
Through some queer magic made the flowers grow.
I wondered if some kindly little fairy,
For fear the flowers too long in bed should stay,
Sent out the birds a week ahead to carry
The message that the Spring was on the way.

But yesterday, with Winter breezes stinging
My cheek—and long before the Spring is due—
I heard a little hoarse-voiced robin singing,
And pausing now and then to cry "Kerchoo!"
And crows shoots, a mocking sun invited
To spring up prematurely from their bed,
Are laying on the meadow, brown and blighted—
And also, I may mention—very dead.

A little—a little warmth—had tricked 'em;
Alas, they knew no more than human folks.
As easily as I do they fell victim
To one of Nature's rather dumsy jokes.
They both were hoodwinked by a freshish season;
They have no more prophetic gift than men,
And no more intellect—and that's the reason
I'll never trust a bird or flower again.

A YEAR FOR PUBLICITY.
An actor had refused to talk for the newspaper, knowing, doubtless,
that in that way he could get more notoriety than in any other.

Too Many Weddings.

The dawn was cold and chilly.
Outside the grim walls of the prison
the kindly old gentleman was waiting to greet the discharged prisoners.
He approached one and asked if he needed any help.
"My poor friend," he began, "what brought you to this?"
The ex-convict addressed began to weep copious tears of repentance.
"I dunno, sir," he replied sadly,
"unless it was attendin' too many weddings."

"Ah, you learned to drink at those festivities, or perhaps to steal?" the old gentleman put in, sympathetically.
"No, it wasn't that. You see, I was always the bridegroom."—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

The Poorest Profession.

Edgar Lee Masters was talking on a roof garden about the poor part of the poetical profession.
"A pretty girl," he said gloomily,
"told me at a tea the other day that she had been to see a fortune teller.
"And the fool must have thought
I was an heiress," she added.
"Why?" said I.
"Because," said the pretty girl,
"she prophesied that I'd marry a poet and live happy ever after."
